20 BODIES RECOVERED FROM WRECK

By ARTHUR EVERETT

ELIZABETH, N.J. (AP) — A tricky hoisting operation early today recovered a Jersey Central commuter coach bearing 13 bodies from the swirling waters of Newark Bay.

The railroad estimates that 40 persons died Monday when a five-car commuter train, pulled by two locomotives, hit an open drawbridge on a trestle over the bay and knifed into the water.

Twenty bodies have been recovered so far.

Thirty-three others were injured. The locomotives and three of the five coaches came to rest on the silty bottom. One of the coaches dangled over the water long enough for its passengers to scramble to safety and then plunged in.

The bodies were taken to the Bayonne morgue for identification.

Among the missing and presumed dead were George (Snuffy) Stirmweiss, former New York Yankee second baseman, and Elton Clark, 71, a director of Allied Chemical and Dye Co., one of the nation's biggest corporations.

The train, with 100 passengers aboard, apparently ran three warning signals. It ripped through an automatic derailing device that jerked it from the rails but failed to stop it.

The train had made its way without incident along the north Jersey shore toward Jersey City and the ferry terminals to New York City. En route it picked up New York-bound business executives, Wall Streeters and weekend vacationers headed back from the shore.

Bridgetender Patrick Corcoran, 55, pulled the switch that raised the elevator-type drawbridge to allow a barge to move through the heavily traveled waterway. "There was nothing I could do," he said, as he told of watching helplessly as the train plunged into the water. "I heard the rumble. I can't describe my feelings. I never saw anything like this in (Turn to Page Seven)

Two More U. S. Battalions Pull Out of Lebanon

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Two U. S. Marine battalions boarded ships for home today amid indications that other American units may be pulled out of Lebanon soon.

Only one Marine battalion is left in Lebanon. Marine sources said it probably would leave the last week in September or the first week in October.

Members of one of the Army's two hospital units in Lebanon said they have already begun packing but no departure date has been announced.

Other military sources said that according to present plans some of the Army's heavy equipment will start being loaded the latter part of September.

The Navy added another bit to the withdrawal activity by announcing seven helicopters and 63 men were loaded aboard the aircraft carrier Wasp this morning. The Wasp is the only U. S. carrier still in the eastern Mediterranean.

Marine sources said the two battalions probably will sail for Morehead City, N. C. Wednesday.

Bureau Warns Next 30 Days To Bring Weather Reversal

WASHINGTON (AP) — The weather Bureau said today the next 30 days will bring a reversal of the weather pattern of the past 30. The East will be warmer, much of the West cooler.

The bureau said its 30-day outlook for mid-September to mid-October calls for temperatures to average above seasonal normals in the southeastern quarter of the nation, Texas, and in the area from the Ohio Valley eastward through the Middle Atlantic States.

The bureau added: "Near normal temperatures are indicated for New England and

President Has Phone Talk With Secretary Dulles Today

NEWPORT, R. I. (AP) — President Eisenhower talked by telephone with Secretary of State Dulles today.

The conference with Dulles, in New York for the United Nations General Assembly session, came as Eisenhower awaited a meeting at the summer White House with Atty. Gen. Rogers. They arranged a discussion of the federal government's role in the light of continuing Southern resistance to court-ordered school integration.

On the international front, Eisenhower got a report from Dulles on latest developments in the Formosa Strait area. They also discussed the speech Dulles will make later in the week at the U. N. Assembly. The President then went off for an early morning round of golf at the Newport Country Club course, close by his vacation residence at Ft. Adams.

At a news conference, press secretary James C. Hagerty said in reply to questions that Eisenhower and his chief aide, Sherman Adams, have not been in touch directly since Adams returned to his White House office in Washington yesterday after a vacation.

A good many Republican candidates have been demanding that the President get rid of Adams because of his relations with Boston industrialist Bernard Goldfine.

Last June, when the controversy first flared, Eisenhower rejected such demands. The President has been silent since the clamor started again a week ago when the Republicans took a trouncing in the Maine elections, where the Goldfine case was an indirect issue.

DATE FOR BOWER APPEAL

HARRISBURG (AP) — The Dauphin County Court will hear argument at its Nov. 12 term on a petition by Clarence P. Bowers, Reading industrialist, to overrule Gov. Leader's dismissal of him from the State Labor Relations Board. The court postponed the hearing Monday.

Furnace Resumes

BRADDOCK, Pa. (AP) — The No. 2 blast furnace at the Edgar Thomson Works of U. S. Steel Corp. was back in production today after being idle since Sept. 1, 1957.

A spokesman said the relined furnace, one of the largest in western Pennsylvania with an annual capacity of 481,500 net tons of pig iron, was relined because of improved business conditions.

"Precipitation is expected to exceed normal over most of the area lying between the Appalachians and the Continental Divide. Subnormal amounts are expected over the Southeast and far Southwest. Otherwise about normal precipitation is indicated."

INTEGRATION RESISTANCE IS DISCUSSED

By JACK ADAMS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Rogers today headed for a Newport, R. I., conference with President Eisenhower that could have eventual far-reaching effects on Southern resistance to school integration.

As of now, authoritative sources report, the federal government has no plan for any sensational or precipitate action to meet the high school closures at Little Rock, Ark., and other delaying actions elsewhere in the South.

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, described the Eisenhower-Rogers conference as "a review of the integration situation to date."

Washington officials saw nothing urgent in the meeting. They discounted the statement of Arkansas Gov. Orval E. Faubus, when he ordered closing of Little Rock high schools last week to avoid integration, that the next move was up to Washington. They contend it isn't so, that the next move actually is up to Faubus.

They indicated that any federal action will await Faubus' move. The feeling here is that Faubus must now find some method that will stand up in the courts to get secondary school education under way again in his capital city.

Federal authorities are putting some, but not total, reliance on a buildup of pressures on the part of Little Rock parents to get their teen-agers back in school.

Race Dispute in Brooklyn School Appears Solved

NEW YORK (AP) — Parents of seven Negro children who had been kept out of public schools in Brooklyn in a protest against schools with almost all Negro pupils have settled their dispute with school authorities.

The issue was settled Monday by the expedient of immediate instead of delayed rezoning of school districts.

There actually is no segregation in New York City schools. But the racial makeup of neighborhoods leads to some schools with nearly all Negro or Puerto Rican pupils and other schools with nearly all white pupils.

The pupils had been assigned to Public School 98, which has almost all Negro pupils.

Under the agreement, the seven pupils will attend nearby Public School 138, which is in a racially mixed neighborhood and has a mixed student body.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The General Assembly opens its 13th regular session today facing one of the most formidable arrays of hot potato issues the U.N. has handled. Formosa seemed certain to head the list.

Before debate even begins, the 81-nation body expects a battle over election of a new Assembly president. Two Arab foreign ministers—Charles Malik of Lebanon and Ahmed Mohammed Mahgoub of Sudan—are top contenders for the post now held by New Zealand's Sir Leslie Munro. Both claim they have enough commitments to get the required simple majority.

The contest springs out of July's Middle East crisis. The United Arab Republic objects to Malik because he is regarded as pro-Western.

In addition to Formosa, the Assembly is expected to give another airing to the unsettled Middle East crisis, France's dispute with Algeria, the British-Greek-Turkish squabble over Cyprus and the controversy over South Africa's racial policies.

High Schools at Little Rock Obey Orders From Governor

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Hundreds of anxious parents cast about today for a way to get their teen-agers into high schools somewhere as the Faubus federal integration battle seemed to shape up as a waiting war of nerves.

The four Little Rock high schools, scheduled to open Monday, remained closed on authority of Gov. Orval E. Faubus, who was empowered by the legislature to shut them to avoid forced integration.

Judge Grants State Right to Indian Land

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP) — A federal district judge Monday granted the state immediate possession of 86 acres of the Tuscarora Indian reservation near Niagara Falls for power lines.

The land is on the northeast edge of 1,383 acres that the State Power Authority wants to condemn for a reservoir for the 700-million-dollar Niagara Power Project.

U. S. Supreme Court Justice O. J. Harlan has granted the Indians a temporary delay in the state's condemnation proceedings pending a possible appeal to the full court. The Second Circuit Court of Appeals previously had approved the condemnation.

Judge Harold Burke said Monday that the public interest would be prejudiced if the SPA could not take possession of the 86 acres right away.

A spokesman for the SPA said the decision will save the state half a million dollars.

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — A white minister, who said his actions would show "the rights of Negroes as well as those of white people are being taken away," tried to enroll Monday at a Negro college.

The pastor of the Independent Missionary Baptist Temple, who has opposed school integration, termed his actions an illustration of stupidity because "there are plenty of fine white schools in which I could enroll."

Everett O. Bell, registrar of Texas Southern University, said the Rev. Mr. E. A. Munroe's application will be handled like any other. He said he thought he would be admitted if he established himself as scholastically qualified.

The registrar said several white students enrolled at the college last year.

The minister was accompanied by about 25 placard and flag carrying members of his congregation. One placard said, "The Supreme Court is not the word of God."

Reds Agree To Talks on Atom Attacks

By ROY ESSOYAN

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union has agreed to exploratory talks with the West on ways to prevent surprise attacks. An agreement by experts on a workable system could lead to political discussions on establishing safeguards against another Pearl Harbor.

In answer to a series of notes from President Eisenhower, the Kremlin agreed Monday to meet in Geneva. The Soviet note handed to U. S. Charge d'Affaires Richard H. Davis proposed that eight-nation talks begin Nov. 10.

The meeting would follow the precedent of technical talks that ended Aug. 21 with East-West agreement on ways to police a nuclear weapons test ban. The United States, Britain and the Soviet Union are to begin political negotiations on an actual ban in Geneva Oct. 31.

The two related aspects of easing world tension, by possible nuclear weapons test ban and safeguards against surprise attack, contribute to Soviet Premier Khrushchev's on-again off-again drive for a summit conference.

At the same time, they represent the type of thorough preparation that the United States insists must precede any meeting by heads of government.

The Soviet note suggested that a technical agreement on preventing surprise attacks "undoubtedly will facilitate fruitful examination of the question . . . at a meeting of heads of government."

The Kremlin had not sought similarly to use the nuclear weapons test discussions to press for a summit meeting.

For the Nov. 10 talks, the Kremlin proposed equal representation of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and the anti-NATO Warsaw Pact. The note suggested the attendance of the United States, Britain, France and Belgium for the West and the Soviet Union, Poland, Czechoslovakia and Romania for the East. The same nations participated in nuclear ban technical talks except for Canada took part instead of Belgium.

UAW President Walter Reuther described the Ford offer as "deficient in many respects" but added it provided a basis from which the Ford-UAW negotiators could strive for agreement before the strike hour at 10 a.m. Wednesday.

UAW sources said the three contract proposals were identical insofar as economic issues—wages, unemployment benefits, pensions and cost of living allowances—were concerned. They said the contracts differed only on minor matters involving local plant situations.

Neither side would disclose specifics about the new offers.

Televised Debate Between Candidates Fires Campaign

By LEONARD A. UNGER

HARRISBURG (AP) — A charge by Gov. George Leader that Rep. Hugh Scott took a $2,000 fee for obtaining a pardon for an undesirable alien bounced the campaign for U. S. senator into a sharp-edged clash of personalities today.

Scott called Leader "a political hit-and-run artist" for making the charge at the tailend of a televised debate last night, leaving Scott without an opportunity to reply.

The sizzling face-to-face debate, first between statewide candidates in modern Pennsylvania political history, wound up with Leader stalking out of the studio (WTFA) refusing to amplify his charge.

SEVEN CARGO PLANES HELP IN DELIVERY

By ROBERT E. TUCKMAN

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — The Nationalists got more supplies to the beleaguered Quemoy by planes and ship today, the Defense Ministry announced.

It was the third straight day the Nationalists supplied Little Quemoy by air. Seven cargo planes made the latest airdrop, the ministry said.

An LST—Landing Ship, Tank—rammed ashore on Quemoy and unloaded all its cargo in 20 minutes, the ministry reported. This would indicate the cargo may have been taken off the ship in amphibious vehicles.

The Nationalists succeeded in a ship landing on Quemoy Sunday after a week of failures.

The new ship run to Quemoy came as the Nationalist reported they were working new attempts to crack the Red artillery blockade of the offshore islands.

New speedup methods of unloading Nationalist planes and ships at Quemoy and the parachuting of supplies to smaller islands near Quemoy were reported. More effective ways to get supplies through the curtain of shells are being sought, Premier Chen Cheng told Parliament.

Four members of Parliament spearheaded a strong clamor in Taipei against the U.S.-Chinese Communist talks which began in Warsaw Monday and recessed until Thursday.

The talks are intended to ease Formosa Strait tension, possibly bringing an end to the bombardment of the Quemoy which began Aug. 23. But the four prominent legislators said the talks might adversely affect the morale of nationalist troops and civilians.

The hottest plane in the U.S. air arsenal, the F104 Starfighter, has begun to fly over Formosa as part of the U.S. protective force should fighting spread beyond the offshore islands.

The American Taiwan (Formosa) Defense Command also said Marine Air Group 11, which came here for joint U.S.-Nationalist amphibious maneuvers, has been assigned to defend naval vessels. These presumably include the (Turn to Page Seven)

DETROIT (AP) — Ford Motor Co. and the United Auto Workers tried again today to reach agreement on a new contract with a strike deadline for 108,000 Ford workers less than 24 hours away.

Ford joined the other members of the automotive Big Three—Chrysler Corp. and General Motors Corp.—in offering a three-year contract to the UAW Monday.

UAW sources said the three contract proposals were identical insofar as economic issues—wages, unemployment benefits, pensions and cost of living allowances—were concerned. They said the contracts differed only on minor matters involving local plant situations.

There once was a man who suffered from indigestion. Everytime he read an ad about how to relieve it, he bought a different patent medicine. He hated radio and television because the announcers reminded him of his stomach-aches. He tried their remedies too, but still suffered.

He worried, because he thought he might have ulcers. One day he said to himself, "I will consult a physician." The physician examined him, prescribed the particular medicine that could help him most, and he got better.

Moral—Wasn't he the foolish one to wait so long before consulting his physician?

Fulton Says Congressman Of the Future New Breed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hastening home to begin his reelection campaign, Rep. James G. Fulton, Pittsburgh Republican, stopped off at Washington long enough to pick up some books and discuss the qualifications of the congressman of the future.

"He will be a new breed," said Fulton. "Whoever would have thought a few years ago that records of congressional inquiries would be full of physics, astronomy and mathematics?"

Fulton returned to the United States last week after 16 days in Europe on government missions to international conferences on atomic energy and problems of outer space.

"These problems are already with us," Fulton said. "Let's hope that this time we can lay down policies in advance."

People are needed in Congress, he said, who are able to "translate the new speeds and new conditions for life" that are appearing in the space age.

Since everyone cannot be an expert in physics and mathematics, he noted, Congress itself must develop a group of men specializing in these subjects in order to iron out a legislative approach.

A good beginning has been made, he believes, in selection of a special House committee on astronautics and exploration of outer space. Fulton is a member.

Legislatively, the big problem to be met, said Fulton, is pointed up by the fact that all law is based on the human ability to perceive through the five senses.

LUDLOW

LUDLOW—The Jelmer Mattisons recently celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary with open house attended by friends than 200 relatives and friends. The lace and lawn wedding dress of 50 years ago, still in good condition and still fitting its owner, was of special attention. Flanking the wedding cake were gold chrysanthemums and candles and, among the gifts, was a gold-framed mirror reflecting golden gladness.

Another delightful reception was the open house given by Pastor and Mrs. Carl Ellison at the parsonage in Sheffield for members and friends of the Ludlow and Sheffield parishes. Officers from both churches presided at a tea table beautifully set with fall flowers and the offering was divided between women's organizations of the two churches.

Mr. and Mrs. James Christenson, Tyrone, have been recent guests at the Arthur Christenson's. Jim reports he is soon to take up new work.

Mrs. Abraham Lieberman and three sons, of Bronxville, N. Y., have been among visitors at the George Nelson home.

Returning from a honeymoon in Bermuda, Mr. and Mrs. James Connelly, 2nd, were joined at the family home by Mrs. Randall Nord of Coronado, Calif., the former Mary Anna Connelly, their first visit at home together for some time, since Jimmy has been in the Marines. Mrs. Nord returned to California by plane.

CORYDON

CORYDON — Mrs. Richard Ruth was hostess to the Foreign Missionary Society of the Church of the Nazarene for a tureen dinner and work session. Present were Rev. Viola Burch, Onoville; Mrs. Clarence Mighells, Mrs. Emma Whelpley, Frewsburg; Mrs. Eugene Crooks, Mrs. Fred Davis, Mrs. Donald Goddard, Corydon. The next assigned hostess is Mrs. John Burch.

Township supervisors held their September meeting at the home of Secretary Marian Tome, with all board members present to conduct routine affairs.

LANDER

Victoria Lund, of Ripley, has been spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lindell and Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Mills.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Stufflebeam have been visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Wright at Columbus.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Perrine, Cranberry, N. J., have been visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Perrine. Other visitors have been Mr. and Mrs. Nicholson, Orlando, Fla.

Robert Van Ord, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gid Van Ord, is enrolled at Edinboro State Teachers' College.

"The five senses don't work in outer space and particularly when you get intense radiation," said Fulton.

"When the rules of physics, upon which the law is based begin not to hold good for the person of ordinary sensibilities then we have something altogether new."

"Law — and democracy — are based on what the ordinary reasonable person would do. A breach of that is a breach of a man's duty. But what happens in space, where conditions are altogether different? What will be the law of property? Property rules are based on control or the power to control. Will it be the same in space?"

Warming up to the subject he spoke on before representatives of 25 nations attending an astronautics conference at the Hague, Netherlands, Fulton compared the present day to the time Columbus discovered the new world.

The British adopted the idea that they would have to control or have the power to control the world's sea lanes, Fulton said, and this led to the struggle for power with Spain.

The Dutch, he said, adopted the concept of freedom of the seas. "President Eisenhower has adopted that doctrine applied to space," said Fulton. "Adopting the theory of domination would lead to a race for space with the only other power—Soviet Russia, just as Spain and England fought for dominance hundreds of years ago."

Space must not be used for military purposes and its development should proceed along peaceful lines, Fulton said.

An interesting facet of his trip, he said, was the interest shown by youth in outer space. At Cambridge, England, he made a speech to an audience of 10 to 15-year-olds who were absorbed in the subject.

Pennsylvanians attending the atoms for peace conference at Geneva, Switzerland, with Fulton were reps. James E. Van Zandt (R), William J. Green (D) and John H. Dent (D).

Fulton said he knew he faced a fight for re-election to an eighth term.

"I always do," he said. "I'm a Republican in a Democratic district."

Fulton's democratic opponent in the Nov. 4 election is Emery F. Bacon, a labor union education director.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The resemblance was amazing. The same short, wiry figure, the broad brow, the firm manner of speech, even the mustache. All that was missing was the polo mallet.

This was Richard Zanuck, son and image of the great Darryl F. At 24, he is producing his first motion picture, "Compulsion" — oddly enough, for Darryl F. Zanuck Productions.

How much autonomy does young Dick have? "Complete artistic autonomy," he replied. "As a matter of fact, Dad went off to Africa and Europe, to make 'Roots of Heaven' and left me to prepare 'Compulsion' entirely on my own."

"My relationship to Dad is much the same as the setup is here at 20th Century-Fox. The producers prepare their properties and get approval and help from Buddy Adler, who's in charge of production. Dad performs the same functions with me as Buddy does with them."

Dick roams easily about the Fox lot, speaking to many of the workers and executives. That's only natural, since he has spent a large part of his life there.

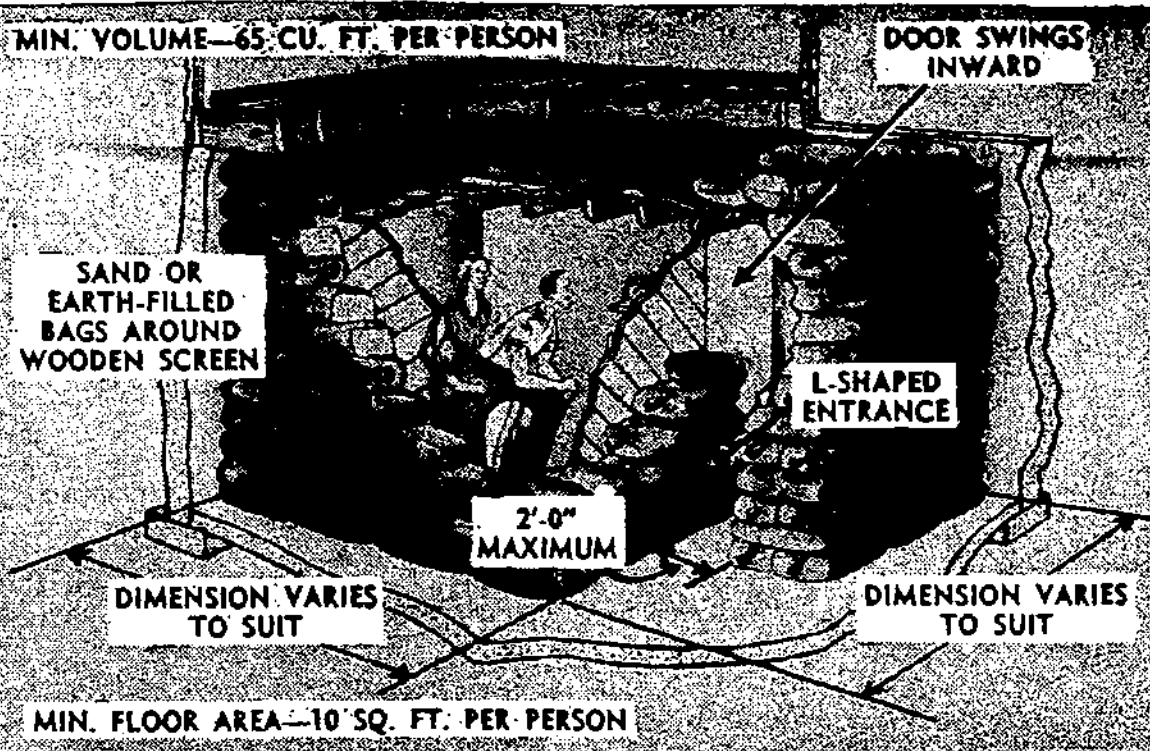

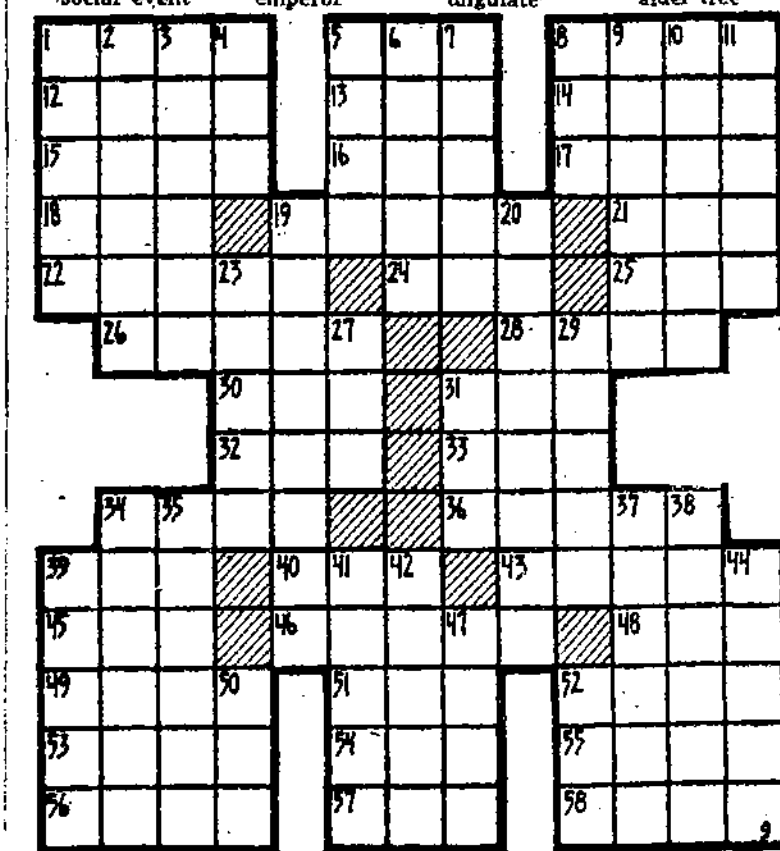

"I started listening to story conferences almost before I could talk," he reminisced. "Dad never instructed me formally in picture making, but I was around a great deal of the time."

"I started selling the Saturday Evening Post on the lot when I was 9. Business? It was pretty good. I don't know whether everyone felt it was a good policy to buy the magazine from me. All I know is, when I stopped selling at 13, I had five boys working for me, and we covered every office on the lot."

The project Dick is embarking on is the fictionalization of the famed Loeb-Leopold thrill slaying of the 1920s. Unlike the first three D. F. Z. independent films, "Compulsion" will be made on a comparatively modest budget.

PLAN FOR SURVIVAL—Drawing above is of a low-cost temporary shelter against radioactive fallout (not blast), suitable for most home basements. The office of Defense and Civilian Mobilization in Battle Creek, Mich., recommends it as minimum protection in case of a nuclear attack. Besides sand or earth, ODCM lists other materials that might be used, such as bricks, concrete blocks, books and papers, water in containers and lumber—the thicker the better. Items which should be stored in the shelter are emergency food and water, a battery-operated radio, flashlights, bedding, first-aid kit and sanitation aids. ODCM, under direction of Leo A. Hoegh, is distributing detailed bulletins describing shelters and fallout protective measures.

NEW YORK (AP)—If you are an average American man, you bought a third of a suit last year. Maybe less.

Don't tell me this is impossible. The men's clothing industry has been saying for years it is impossible. But it is so.

Daddy is getting awful dowdy. The figures show it.

For example:

In 1956 some 20,888,000 men's tailored suits—an industry term—were produced in America. In 1957 the figure dropped to 20,100,000.

The industry realizes the order and left me to prepare 'Compulsion' entirely on my own.

nary papa is self-sacrificing. It realizes, too, he is buying more sport coats and slacks. But it also feels that dad's clothing isn't getting a fair share of the family budget.

One of the cheerleaders in this field is Joseph Daroff, vice president of one of the country's largest clothing firms. He puts at least part of the blame for the American husband's unkempt look on Mrs. America, the wife.

"As manager of the family's spendable income," he remarks in the current issue of the magazine, sales management, "she lists his clothing budget items down somewhere between charitable contributions and canine training fees."

The answer? Daroff says that some firms now lend money to their salesmen to outfit themselves in a way to win their own self-confidence and represent their firms better. The corporation puts dad above either charity or the dog.

As I get it, the general idea is that the guy with a new suit makes new sales.

Daroff has figured out that a salesman can sell himself and his customers with an ideal wardrobe of $1,133—less than many a wife spends to furnish a large living room.

For this money, he says, a man can get six suits, a tux, two sport coats, four pairs of slacks, two topcoats, a raincoat, two formal wear shirts, 10 business shirts, four sport shirts, two hats, one pair of formal shoes, three pairs of business shoes, a pair of sport shoes, and a dozen neckties. You inherit underwear, presumably, and borrow socks from your neighbor.

And the upkeep? Daroff says it can be maintained for $37 a year or about $7.27 a week.

One of the sorrows of men's clothing manufacturers is the American male's shyness about his dress.

"Too many men feel that an intelligent concern with their apparel is akin to male vanity—unbecoming a rugged man," said Daroff. "This attitude is as expensive as it is ridiculous. Becoming clothes are a priceless asset to any man."

Whether you have an ideal $1,133 wardrobe or a basic $665 wardrobe that Daroff also says a salesman can get by with, one thing is for sure:

If every grown-up fellow in America would just buy two thirds of a suit in 1958, all the sheep in the world would be paid to grow wool on an overtime basis.

A.P. Correspondent Gives Eyewitness Account of a Visit to Quemoy's Beach

By GENE KRAMER

OVER THE FORMOSA STRAIT (AP)—I spent one hour in a sandy hell.

It wasn't the sand of Quemoy's beach that made it so unpleasant. It was the concussion and terrible crackling thunder of Communist shells from the mainland 12 miles away landing nearby.

The first pink hint of dawn was showing over the Formosa Strait as we five newsmen drove to Satao beach. The paved highway was pitted here and there by shell holes and marked by vehicles in the ditch from Thursday's intense shelling, the heaviest since the Red bombardment of the Quemoy group began three weeks ago.

Waiting for the plane from Formosa, we shared a beach dugout with Capt. Sze Hsin-ho, a navigator. His plane left him and a radio operator in a quick takeoff just four minutes after landing when shells burst only 10 to 20 yards away. The Reds have fired at every plane this week, including the one that brought us in.

The sound of Communist shells hitting on the opposite side of Quemoy and on nearby Little Quemoy as well as Nationalist return fire could be heard as our plane came skimming in low over the water.

The twin-engine C46 had to circle once before it landed on the beach. It landed out of enemy sight—but the Reds on Weitou Peninsula had seen it coming in. Nationalist officers and five newsmen dashed from the plane as mail sacks and medical supplies were unloaded.

"Any minute now you'll hear the chi-chi-chi noise of close shells," Capt. Sze said.

We newsmen and a dozen soldiers got on a weapons carrier for the 300-yard dash to the plane. We were 50 yards away when it happened — the sharp crackling of shells bursting overhead, showering the beach with deadly shrapnel, and the thudding of high explosive shells into the beach. Everyone jumped from the vehicle except AP photographer Fred Waters, who tried vainly to turn off the runway.

We dived in two-foot-deep trenches 100 yards away and buried our faces between steel helmets and the sand. I recalled that I'd heard an American military adviser urge the Nationalists two days ago to provide sandbag protection at the beach airstrip but nothing had been done about it.

There was a discussion of whether it was better to get killed or wounded by shrapnel or to crash in a shell-d plane. We decided to run back to the better protection of the cliffs. We made it after taking cover along the way in a sand gully during a five-minute barrage. Someone said the shells were landing only 100 yards off: 300 or 400 yards probably was more correct, but I failed to check.

In the cliffside bunkers we met the arriving newsmen. They included two Americans. Sol Sanders of McGraw-Hill and M.Sgt. Tommy Thompson from New Orleans. Leaving with Waters and me were Charles Smith of United Press International, Charles Luen of Movietone News and Jiny Yuen Tsao of the Nationalist Central News Agency.

Finally we made it to the plane 66 minutes after it had landed, tossed out our steel helmets for someone else to use, and held our breath as the plane took off and wheeled east into the sun.

As we left, shells were hitting a few hundred yards from the spot the plane had stood.

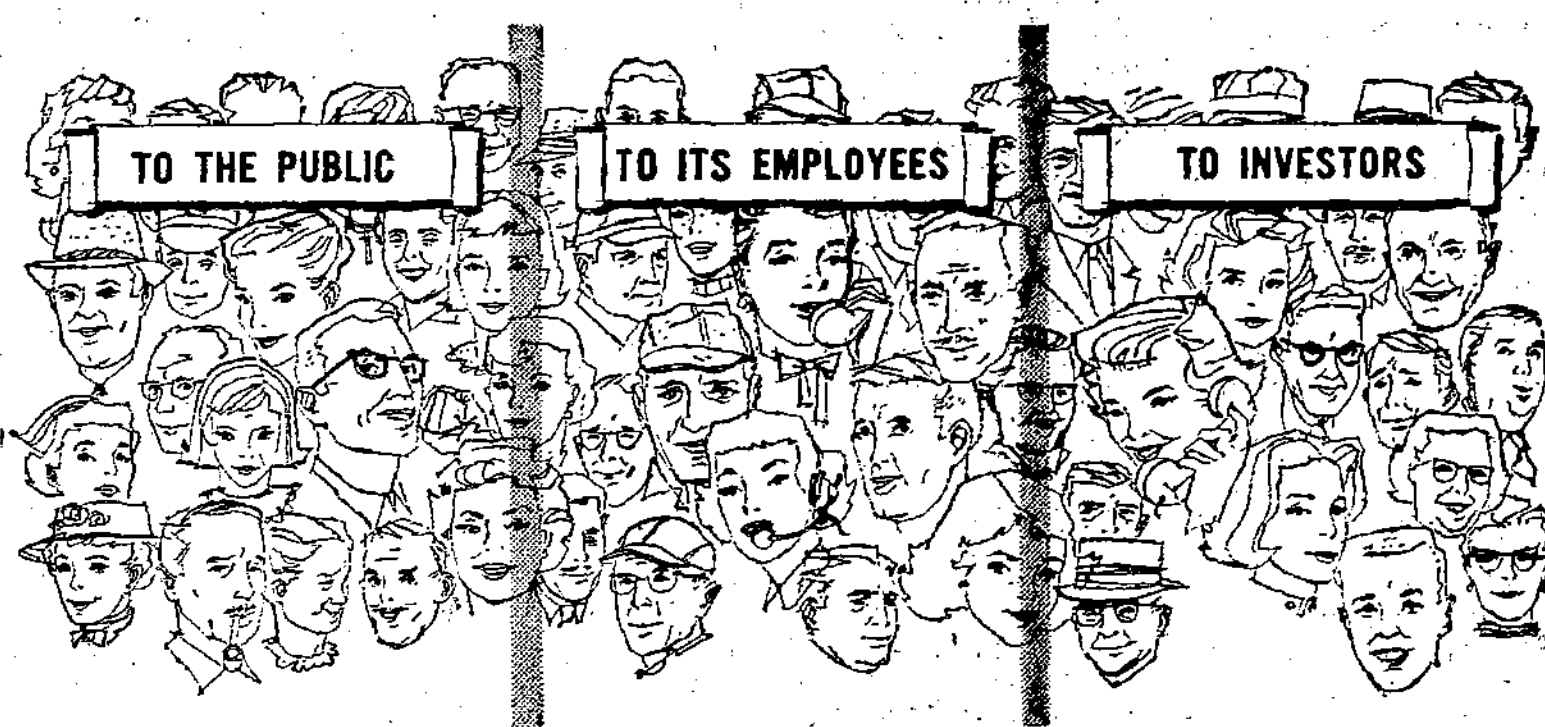

"We're not really safe until 10 minutes out," muttered Waters. "One of these days they're going to hit one of these planes."

The telephone company must fulfill its responsibilities

Our responsibilities are threefold—to the public, to our employees, and to the people whose investment dollars have built the telephone system

Our responsibility to the public is to furnish good, low-cost telephone service to everyone who wants it.

Our responsibility to our employees is to assure them good wages, good working conditions, the chance for advancement according to their abilities.

Our responsibility to the people who have invested their money with us is to provide them with safety and a fair return on their dollars.

It takes a financially sound telephone company...

To expand intelligently for the future, to replace inadequate equipment, to adopt new discoveries and developments which lower cost and provide better service.

To attract and hold good employees—and to continually secure qualified people as the demands of the business require.

To provide investors with a fair return on their money and to compete for the additional investment dollars needed for expansion.

Good telephone service is important to our social and business life, and a financially healthy telephone company is essential to good telephone service.

CONSTITUTION WEEK REMINDER!

From an officer of General Joseph Warren Chapter Daughters of the American Revolution, we are in receipt of an annual reminder to mention the fact that Wednesday starts the observance of Constitution Week, September 17 to 23.

Every patriotic American should consider it his duty to actively participate in the observance of Constitution Week. The Constitution is the safeguard of our liberties, the champion of our freedom and all loyal citizens of the nation should feel it a privilege and an honor to protect and defend it.

The purpose of the observance of Constitution Week is to recall to the American people the true significance of the events that occurred during the week of September 17 to 23, in 1787, and to revitalize appreciation of our great heritage which is the Constitution.

It was on September 17, 1787, that the United States Constitution was approved unanimously by the delegates. In the week following the proposed Constitution it was made known to the people throughout the country. The DAR release warns that "the original spirit of the Constitution has been largely lost, and by means of amendments and misinterpretations, the Constitution has been twisted and bent, thus allowing it to offer ostensible sanction to America's creeping socialism!"

CHEST SPEAKER'S BUREAU

According to Charles R. Tranter, executive vice president of the Warren Area Chamber of Commerce, all clubs and organizations in the county are cordially invited to take advantage of a new speaker's bureau which has been set up for the 1958 Community Chest campaign in order to provide an interesting program about the Chest and how it operates.

Byron W. Knapp, Community Chest president, Byron W. Knapp, Community Chest president, also reminds that the Bureau will gladly provide a good speaker for any meeting, large or small which occurs between now and October 13th. The speaker will be able to present an interesting talk for as long as a half hour or as briefly as five minutes depending on the occasion.

Purpose of the speakers bureau will be to acquaint the public with Warren's Community Chest organization which provides support for ten local health, welfare and youth agencies.

Mr. Knapp asks that any service club, fraternal order, PTA—in fact, any type of organization which would like a good speaker for one of its meetings in the near future—please call Community Chest headquarters 3351 and a date will be arranged.

Marlow Looks At TODAY'S NEWS

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dismal describes the outlook for the three-month meeting of the United Nations General Assembly, opening today.

Its biggest immediate problem: the Red Chinese attack on the Quemoy and Matsu islands and the American refusal to let the Reds take them by force.

Secretary of State Dulles and Soviet Foreign Minister Gromyko will tangle over this. Only an optimist can expect a solution in the U.N.

For, meanwhile, the American and Red Chinese ambassadors to Poland will be discussing the same thing in Warsaw.

Nothing is likely to happen in the U.N. anyway until there's time to see what happens in Warsaw. And nothing is likely to happen in Warsaw unless the American government is willing to make big concessions to the Chinese Communists.

But Dulles and President Eisenhower got themselves into a kind of box on concessions.

First, they indicated they might make concessions to the Reds if they combed their hair right.

But then Eisenhower said let the Reds shoot their way into Quemoy and Matsu without fighting them would be appeasement. It would still be appeasement if this country let the Reds have the islands on the promise they wouldn't shoot their way in if they got them for free.

No doubt the Soviet Union will make a renewed effort to get Red China a seat in the U.N.

But the United States, which acts as if the Red Chinese didn't exist—even though it still may have to fight them and is willing to negotiate with them—has blocked a U.N. seat for them before.

It will maneuver to do so again. It probably has enough friends in the U.N. to get the Assembly once again to sidetrack this issue for a later date and another year.

But there's a chilling side to all this: while Quemoy, Matsu, Chaiang Kai-shek and his enemies, the Red Chinese, are windily debated in the U.N., the actual crisis around those offshore islands still remains and could burst into war.

But other things face the U.N. too, and with just about the same small chance of solution.

For instance: disarmament. There'll be some debate but any real progress in that field more likely will come from direct American-Soviet talks.

"The Pennsylvania Deer Story"—1958 "a special report dealing with the history, management, and hunting of the Keystone State's famous deer herd, will be featured in the October issue of GAME NEWS, the Commission's official magazine due off-press in about two weeks. Compiled by the Commission headquarters staff and Research Division, the "Deer Story" will contain full answers to most questions asked by hunters. Complete information, graphically presented, will tell the present condition of the herd, its range within the Commonwealth, age and sex composition, plus many facts about the deer themselves. Modern management methods, including a frank discussion of the values of the present antlerless deer license system, are covered. This report to all Pennsylvanians interested in the management and harvest of our deer will be an added attraction to the magazine. GAME NEWS for October will have its normal content of articles, illustrations and news of interest to all outdoorsmen and people, including full details of all 1958 Pennsylvania hunting seasons.

We have a four-page single-space summary of a report on the progress of Sports Fish restoration, compiled by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, just released by Ray Lane, manager of the U. S. Fish Cultural Station at Clarendon. There is so much of interest to fishermen we regret that space will not permit publication in full. Some highlights are submitted for the information of followers of the sport. One of the most effective measures passed in recent year, the release says, was the Federal Aid in Fish Restoration Program. This came into being with the passage of the Dingell-Johnson Act in 1950. Under this program the man who benefits pays the bill. Anglers provide the funds by payment of a ten per cent Federal Excise tax on fishing tackle and through purchase of State fishing licenses. The general taxpayer does not contribute, unless he is also an angler. States select and carry out the restoration projects. States provide at least one out of every four dollars spent. The money is divided by a set formula based on the number of anglers and land and water area. The Federal Government sees to it that projects conform to law and are substantial in character and design, inspects the work, and audits financial records. The projects are designed by law. Fish restoration includes improvement in environment, fisheries research, purchase of lease of lands and waters, or construction of facilities. It does not include public relations, extension activities, and law enforcement, even though they are essential elements of State conservation programs. Statistics from the first five years (fiscal years 1952 through 1956 have been used in the report). The report states that under the Federal Aid Fish Restoration Program, the fish and game departments of twelve states have carried out stream and watershed improvement. One state, for example, treated 400 miles of stream and five watersheds; it built 25 miles of fences to protect natural cover on stream banks; planted nearly 2 1/2 million trees and shrubs to help control erosion, stabilized eight miles of stream banks with logs and boulders and put 4,549 habitat improvement devices into the streams. In addition, gully stabilization, channel clearing and cooperative land-use planning were carried on. As regards the outlook for anglers, the article says fishing has long been a part of the American scene. Early colonists found our rivers, lakes and surrounding seas teeming with fish, but many factors resulting from America's growth combined to cause a dwindling of the stocks. Much of our remnant fishing today is, of necessity, for sports or recreation. In 1955 more than 19 million people bought fishing licenses, roughly four times as many as in 1938. With a national population of 165,000,000, 21 million went fishing. Experts predict a population of 200 million before the end of the century. And there is talk of a four-day week, giving more time for recreation. Good roads lace the country, and plane and helicopters go where cars can't. With more people we need more water for every day use. Agriculture needs more water. Factories use more water. Growing industry and spurring human populations multiply our pollution problems. Water, the basic element in our sport fisheries—becomes more precious each year. America's anglers must look to a future in which they share their sport with many more people — on less water. More people, more time for play, easier travel, mean one thing — more people will be going fishing!"

Will the 1957-1958 epidemic of Asian influenza repeat itself during the coming fall and winter? Accurate forecasting of epidemic outbreaks of influenza is impossible, according to Metropolitan Life Insurance Company statisticians who have been charting the course of last year's epidemic through policyholder experience. However, they point out that even though the disease is prevalent in some measure every year, it is exceptional for widespread outbreaks to occur in successive years. It is estimated by the United States Public Health Service that 20,000,000 Americans were stricken by the disease in the last four months of 1957 alone.

OUTWARD TO THE STARS (20)—Landing on the Moon

(1) Since the Moon has no atmosphere to support wings or parachutes, landing upon it will have to be done entirely by means of using rockets for brakes. Even though the Moon's gravity is weak (one-sixth that of Earth's), considerable force will be needed to counter the Moon ship's momentum in its fall.

The entire operation will be a delicate maneuver, probably handled by automatic instruments. Some type of radar altimeter will control the rocket motors to fire them at the precise moment, and strength. Gyroscopes will maintain the ship's perpendicular attitude.

It is thought that much of the Moon's surface is covered with fine, pumice-like dust, here being spewed upward by the rocket blast of the approaching ship. Determining the thickness of this layer of dust will be important before landing, lest the ship be engulfed by it.

(2) The first men step out upon the surface of the Moon, but still in space in terms of atmosphere and temperature. Temperature extremes, estimated by astronomers, range from 212 degrees F. (the boiling point of water) at noon, to -238 degrees F. at midnight. A step from sunlight into shadow means a difference of hundreds of degrees.

(3) A forbidding "mooncape," unreheved by meadow or forest or any form of life that we know of, greets the landing party. All about are craters, some as much as 10 miles in diameter. Ringed and walled plains, up to a hundred miles across, are also part of this vista, along with two-mile-wide crevices and the vast plains called "seas." Towering above all are the jagged mountains, the highest 30,000 feet above the average level. Unsoftened by wind or rain, they appear needle sharp. From the Moon, men view the Earth as no one before has seen it—remote and lovely, a blue jewel set in a black sky. It makes the Moon seem all the more harsh and lonely.

Ike's Talk on Quemoy Crisis Clears Dulles' Obscurities

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—President Eisenhower's decision to deliver a nationwide broadcast to the American people on the Formosa situation is in sharp contrast to what came out of Secretary of State John Foster Dulles's last press conference on this subject. Secretary Dulles gave reporters the impression that because the elements going into the making of these decisions on Quemoy and Matsu islands were so delicate, they were not subject to popular approval.

The secretary said he recognized that U.S. foreign policies should have the approval of the American people. But he implied that the situation was so complicated that it could not be explained to them.

What the reporters were after were clear statements on the risks of stumbling into a war with Red China by accident. But they didn't get very good answers, and came away confused.

NOTING THAT U.S. warships conveying Chinese Nationalist ammunition supply vessels to Quemoy withheld their fire when attacked by Red China shore batteries, a reporter asked what would happen if an American escort ship was hit.

Secretary Dulles replied that it would all depend on the circumstances. If it was obvious the attack was deliberate, the U.S. ship would reply in kind. But if a U.S. ship was hit accidentally, that would be another matter. Apparently nothing would be done.

The exchange of fire might happen only once—whether accidental or on purpose. But it has to happen only once to start a war.

Secretary Dulles admits there are elements in this situation that might lead to war. He gives it as his personal opinion that the situation will not lead to war. But he recognizes that it might.

ANOTHER HYPOTHETICAL question put to the secretary was what the reaction would be if Red China aircraft dropped bombs on Nationalist Chinese airfields on Quemoy.

Dulles ducked that one completely, saying that he did not think it wise for him to answer.

A third effort to pin the secretary down was made with this question: If an attack occurred today on Quemoy and Matsu, would the United States defend them as part of the defense of Formosa and the Pescadores, or Formosa and Penghu?

The secretary referred reporters to his statement of Sept. 4. He said he didn't want to put more into that statement than was already there, but there was plenty there.

He hit the nail on the head with that last remark, anyway, for the Sept. 4 statement says a lot of things.

IN PARAGRAPH TWO it says the 1955 congressional resolution on defense of Formosa authorizes the President to secure and protect related positions such as Quemoy and Matsu.

In paragraph six it says the United States has recognized that securing and protecting Quemoy and Matsu have become increasingly related to the defense of Taiwan.

Finally there is this kicker: "Military dispositions have been made by the United States so that a presidential decision, if made, would be followed by action both timely and effective." From this it would appear that the U.S. is ready to go to war over Quemoy and Matsu, as well as Formosa and Penghu.

President Eisenhower's White House chat on these subjects was intended to clear up some of these delicate points which Secretary Dulles indicated the American people might not understand.

NEW YORK (AP)—Confidence unimpaired has played a stellar role in halting the recession and starting business on the uphill climb again.

Confidence is made up of many ingredients—including good American horse sense. No one factor can take a bow as being the only one to keep confidence unimpaired.

But today businessmen can pat each other on the back for two things:

1. Most of them conducted their own affairs in a way that showed their confidence in the economy's essential soundness was unshaken, no matter how prudent they might be at the moment in meeting current problems.

2. Individually and in unison most of them stressed this confidence. This undoubtedly had its part in keeping the American people's eyes focused on the long-term prospects for growth and prosperity and in keeping them from losing their heads when a rapidly developing recession was making the short term prospect disturbing indeed.

The concrete result is shown in figures on consumer spending. In areas hard hit by unemployment spending naturally has slowed down. Elsewhere it hasn't.

Consumers have changed the objects of their buying affections—to the distress of some manufacturers and the delight of others. But there has been no panic—no widespread snapping of rubber bands on well-heeled wallets.

When the recession was at its worst some five months ago the advertising council, with the support of many business leaders and their national organizations, launched a "Confidence in a Growing America" campaign. The accent was on the long-term view. The idea: To show the public that the over-all economy was sound and to stress that the recession, like so many other setbacks, would pass.

Today the council has just about worked itself out of a job.

Taking stock of how business firms, the press and TV-radio have responded, the council reports that daily and weekly newspapers have asked for 5,359 individual advertising mats carrying the message of confidence. Some 76 magazines have run full-page advertisements. Industrial publications have inserted 387 full-page ads, and merchandising trade papers about 300 more. The council counts 218 messages carried on 103 network commercial TV shows and 133 messages on 29 network radio shows. It says coverage on local stations is beyond tabulating.

Just how much confidence was bolstered or generated by this is beyond knowing. But the council thinks the many letters from readers, viewers and listeners indicate the campaign went over.

Local Persons Attend Sunday School Annual

The Rev. and Mrs. Ernest A. Kaebnick were among those attending the annual district conference of the American Sunday-School Union, whose meetings were concluded last Friday at the Odosaghi Bible Conference Grounds, Machias, N. Y.

Other Warren residents also in attendance were the Rev. and Mrs. Frank A. Kehrl. Mr. Kehrl, now retired from active service, still carries on rural Sunday school work in this district, which comprises the states of Pennsylvania, New York, Ohio, Indiana, and Michigan.

Mr. Kaebnick, general missionary for western Pennsylvania, reports about 70 persons were in attendance. Both Mr. Kaebnick and Mrs. Kehrl, who was superintendent of this district for 14 years, had an important share in the conference program.

The present district superintendent is Henry Applehof, who presided at the conference when it opened September 8th. Present and also participating in the program from the home office at Philadelphia were the Rev. Lester Spencer, secretary of missions; the Rev. William J. Jones, editor of publications; the Rev. Doyal Brown, director of promotion for the department of missions.

The American Sunday-School Union carries on an important rural Christian ministry to otherwise un-reached boys and girls, and youth. Such work is done by means not only of Sunday schools, but also vacation Bible schools, young peoples' Bible conferences, and Pioneers for Christ, a new youth organization.

Missionaries of this pioneer Society report many other activities, including relief work and weekday Bible instruction. Hundreds of professions of faith in Christ are annually reported by the missionaries of this district. The Union is one of the most fruitful sources of rural church life, as many of the Sunday schools under its guidance develop into churches of various denominations throughout the country.

The Mature Parent

Kindly 'Sparing Humiliation' Sometimes Is Sheer Cruelty

BY MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

When Ann's parents have you to dinner, Ann takes you over until her bedtime at 8:30. Barely have her parents greeted you before Ann herds you upstairs to see her movie projector. At dinner she tells you everything she did on rainy days at camp this summer. After dinner, bringing out the beaded belt she made, she describes every detail of its manufacture.

Try and stem her chatter to ask her parents what they think of the Middle East crisis—and Ann at once reasserts control of the conversation by announcing, "We had a camp song. Would you like to hear it? It goes: 'Oh, whispering pines and campfire glow.'"

Her parents never say, "That's enough now, Chatterbox. Let someone else talk now."

They refrain from this correction lest they "humiliate" Ann by suggesting that her insistent chatter is boring.

And Ann knows it. You can tell she knows it by the strain that enters her voice as your attention begins to wane. She knows the exact moment when your disinterest becomes irritation. As she jumps up to sing the camp song that forces your attention back to her, a look of desperation comes into her face.

At bedtime, knowing that she's failed to command your approval of her as more interesting than her parents, she can't bear to leave the scene of her failure. So there are protests and tears of frustration that embarrass everyone.

It is cruel to encourage children to imagine that their conversation is endlessly fascinating to adults.

If this strikes us as true, we'll lose our fear of that firm "That's enough now, Chatterbox," and will be able to protect Ann against the bored irritation of dinner guests she now feels obliged to entertain for two hours.

We "humiliate" children like Ann, not by correcting them but by giving them social responsibility that's too heavy for them. It is very noble of us to want to spare them "humiliation," but this desirable end is not accomplished by allowing them to make offensive little fools of themselves.

Ruth Millett

Words of Wisdom Gleaned From Two Decades on Job

Impressions from the thousands of reader letters that have been addressed to Ruth Millett during the past 20 years:

No matter how unhappy she is with her husband or how much she seems to despise the kind of person he is, a wife has to believe she loves him. Even the wives who haven't one kind word to say about the men they are married to invariably begin or end their letters with, "I love him." Maybe that's because if a dissatisfied wife didn't keep telling herself she loves her husband, she would have to face the less pleasant truth that she puts up with him because of his pay check.

Men are less critical of their wives than women are of their husbands. It seems almost impossible for a wife to sing her husband's praise without adding, "If he just wouldn't do this or so." But a husband who thinks his wife is tops doesn't dim his praise with any "if only" reservations.

Daughters-in-law more often speak kindly of their mothers-in-law than the other way around. "She has been like a mother to me" is not nearly so rare a statement as, "She has been like a daughter to me."

The most frequent complaint that wives make about their husbands is, "He never talks to me." The next most frequent disillusionment is, "He doesn't want to be bothered with the children."

Working wives are becoming less on the defensive every year. More and more of them are beginning to say proudly, "My going to work has been good for me and good for my family." And this is in spite of all the blame heaped on working wives for the high divorce rate, for the increase in juvenile delinquency and for Papa's loss of authority in the family circle.

The housewife is the most "unappreciated" member of the family. Or anyway, she thinks she is. Husbands may complain about Mama being more interested in the kids than she is in them, teen-agers may claim that their parents don't understand them, but it is the housewife who complains that she isn't appreciated.

Moriah Church Groups Have Many Activities

LUDLOW—Among the busiest groups in town are those associated with Moriah Lutheran church, where a full schedule of fall and winter activities is in prospect.

Pastor Carl Eliason attended the New York Conference pastoral sessions at Mt. Tremper, N. Y.; Emma Christian, Warren, and Mrs. Enoch O. Nelson will attend the biennial meeting of Augustana WMS in Minneapolis September 16-19.

The parish was represented at the district meeting of Sunday School teachers in Warren Sunday; the Churchmen's group met at the church at 8:00 p. m. Thursday; and the Churchwomen will entertain similar organizations of the area at 8:00 p. m. this Thursday. Each group will provide two numbers for the program and it is hoped there will be a good turnout.

Various meetings are being held in preparation for the Evangelism Mission to be held soon and all are invited to attend the Area PTR meeting at St. Paul's in Warren this evening. Youth of the parish enrolled for the Mission attended a rally in Jamestown Sunday.

Luther Leaguers also held a workshop last week to begin a bandage project for a hospital in some foreign field. Working with advisors Rose Nelson and Mrs. Enoch Nelson, they brought old white cloth to be torn into desired widths, sewn into five-yard lengths, and rolled.

Mrs. Carl Eliason is conducting Story Hours each Friday at 3:30 at the church, to which all children are invited.

Season's Dramatic Selections Are Announced by Warren Players Club

Warren Players' Club, Warren's "Biggest Entertainment Bargain," today announced its schedule of plays for the coming year, with the emphasis of the selection committee being "Something for Everyone."

To open the season this year on October 1 and 17, Players' will present "The Fourposter," the hilarious story of the influence of one bed on the lives of two people. Edith O'Hara returns to direct the first offering, and she promises Warren audiences will howl with delight as did Broadway theatregoers for many years.

Slated for December 4 and 5 and especially designed for the Christmas season, Warren Players' will present "The Song of Bernadette," the beautiful story of the little French girl who becomes a Saint. As a novel, this story led the best-seller lists for many weeks. As a movie with Jennifer Jones, it gave that actress one of her finest opportunities. Brought to the stage, it has continued to charm audiences all across the country.

After the mid-season break, the stage will light up once again in February when John Zavinski and Joanne Roberts take up directoral chores for the first time. Mysteries having proved popular in the past, a real thriller comes to the stage when Players' presents "A Murder Has Been Arranged." With suspense aplenty and a singing end, this should be one of the best of this or any other season.

The final offering, scheduled for April, is untitled as yet, but it will be the bonus. Audiences have for years enjoyed the "Melterdrammer," with its chance to boo the villain; cheer the hero; and weep for the heroine Betty Rice will direct a play of this nature, and has promised to select one which will offer all the chances one could want.

Once again the committee emphasizes that two types of membership are available: Associate—if one desires only to see the four great plays; Active—if one desires active participation. The price is the same, $4.00 for each; the only difference is the member's election of which he desires.

The committee emphasizes there is no greater bargain available in Warren today and urges that all persons interested "watch for advertisements in local papers, join Warren Players' and settle back for a season of fine theatre-going."

CENTRAL UNION HOLDS MEETING

For its September meeting, Central WCTU gathered in Dunham Parlor of First Methodist church, with 26 members present. Hostesses were Mrs. Alice Fox, Miss Florence Pace, Mrs. Carl Johnson and Mrs. Martha Powers.

Mrs. William Muir conducted devotions, the group singing "Spirit of the Living God"; Mrs. Edna Duff led the program, which included comments on influence of narcotics, even among 12 year old children in California; Miss Lulu Boyd introduced the study book of the year, "The Curse of the Nation," reviewing the first chapter; a Pennsylvania WCTU Quiz conducted by Mrs. Duff proved most educational.

Mrs. Iva Belle Richael installed officers and directors in an impressive service; Miss Clara Wickstrom led the triple flag salute; Mrs. John Trauffer conducted the business session, distributing new program leaflets for the year.

The County WCTU convention will be held all day Wednesday in Sugar Grove Methodist church and all were urged to be in attendance. Mrs. George Johnson closed the gathering with prayer.

District Governor Visits The Rotarians

The annual Warren District Sunday School Teachers Association meeting was held at St. Paul's Lutheran church at 3:00 p. m. Sunday, with 40 delegates and visitors in attendance.

Russell Thelin, Sunday School superintendent of the host church, extended the welcome, with Everett Benson and Gerald Newburg, of Sheffield, in charge of devotions.

Leon Anderson, Sheffield, presided at the business session, when the following officers were elected: President, Edward S. Pearson, Oil City; vice president, Everett Benson, Sheffield; secretary, Harriet Carlson, Warren; treasurer, E. Leo Johnson, Youngville.

Mrs. Albert Anderson, church organist, played the prelude, "Built on the Rock," by Christiansen and the offertory, "Intermezzo" by Rogers. Leon Anderson gave an inspiring talk based on "We Would See Jesus."

Following a tour of the parish house, refreshments were served by St. Paul's teachers and officers.

Grace Methodist Workers Attend Weekend Retreat

Approximately 40 members of Grace Methodist church attended a Retreat for church school workers, officers, teachers and other interested persons at Wesley Woods, near Grand Valley, September 12-13.

First session was held at 8:00 p. m. Friday, with Rev. Ralph Findley in charge of the devotional period and Mrs. Findley at the piano for the song service. Speaker was the Rev. James McIntosh, of Jamestown First Methodist church.

Theme for the meeting was "Revitalizing and Advancing Our Church School Program" and, in speaking of "Finding New Tools and Techniques," Rev. McIntosh made the statement: "We cannot communicate Jesus Christ to others unless we have Him in our own lives." He emphasized three points: Have You Got It? Are You Sharing It? and Are You Letting God Lead You? Concluding, he said "Only the Holy Spirit is able to make you greater than your own efforts."

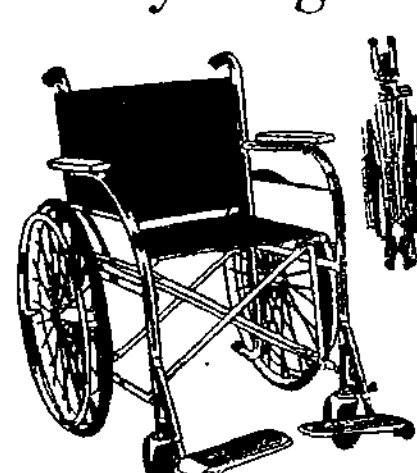

About 27 of those attending the first session remained at camp overnight and were joined by 12 or 14 others, who arrived in time for Saturday breakfast. Morning assembly was held at 9:30, with Rev. Findley in charge.

Rev. James Schmittie, Edinboro, brought the morning message, speaking on "Means and Methods for Church School Workers." His talk fitted in appropriately with the speaker of the previous evening and, in his remarks as well as in the discussion group which followed, Rev. Schmittie presented many inspirational thoughts and new ideas for advancement of the work.

Following his talk, there was a brief coffee break, then an assembly period in charge of the superintendent, Wayne Delchambre, and Rev. Findley. The meeting was then separated into division groups, Rev. J. Norman Holder of Youngville leaving the adult group; Rev. Schmittie, youth division; and Mrs. Howard Smith, children's group.

Lunch was served at noon, and the interest and enthusiasm of those present were such that it was agreed a similar plan should be carried out next year.

Mr. Faricy chose to open two diamonds and received the expected two-no-trump response. He rebid to three clubs and when North bid three diamonds Mr. Faricy went to seven.

His partner had to have some diamond support and might well hold a doubleton club; or he might have that all important queen of clubs or almost anything else that would make seven diamonds a spread.

West opened the five of hearts and now if you will take a look at the dummy you will see that the North hand was just as bad as the South hand was good!

John took two rounds of trumps and the suit broke. He led his seven of trumps and overtook with dummy's nine and East dropped the three of clubs. John decided that East would not have discarded a club if he held either or both of the club honors and that the only play for the hand would be to drop the queen and jack from the West hand. He led a club and went up with the king. Down came the jack! He led the ace! The queen dropped! Eureka!

"Rotary International," the District Governor stated, "is a good sounding Board of International Relationships—as good as the United Nations." He also commended the Club for its service to the community. Warren won the Community Service District award in 1955 for this program largely due to the organization and sponsorship of the Warren County Probation Society which is still functioning, and the Farmer-Rotary program sponsored annually. ## Applications Are Available for NROTC Program

According to information in the following article, prepared by Warren High School News Bureau, applications are now available for the Navy's 15th annual competitive examination for its nation-wide Regular NROTC college training program. Announcement to that effect has been made by the Navy Department. The mental examination is scheduled for December 13, 1958, and is open to all high school seniors and graduates who can qualify.

The deadline date for receipt of all applications is December 15, 1958, the Navy stated.

Male citizens of the United States between the ages of 17 and 21 are eligible to apply for the Navy College Aptitude Test. Persons attaining a qualifying score will be given the Navy's rigid midshipman physical examination next February. From the pool of qualified candidates remaining in competition, approximately 1800 young men will be selected for appointment as midshipmen and will enroll in one of the 52 colleges of their choice where a Naval Reserve Officers Training Corps Unit is located.

The Regular NROTC is maintained for one purpose—to train and educate young men for ultimate commissioning as career officers in the Navy and Marine Corps. Successful candidates will start their Naval careers in colleges in universities across the country in 1959. After a normal college education and substantial Navy training, graduates will be commissioned as regular officers in the Navy or Marine Corps, for active duty with the United States Fleet, throughout the world. For those who qualify and apply, assignment to flight training will open new careers in Naval Aviation.

In addition to the normal college curriculum, midshipmen in the Regular NROTC will study a planned course in the Navy, plus an annual retainer pay of $60 for a maximum of four years. Regular NROTC midshipmen will spend part of three successive summers on training cruises with various Fleet units.

Application for this program leading to a career in the naval service are available from the guidance office of the Warren High School or from the nearest U. S. Navy Recruiting Station.

Marlow Looks At the News

(From Page Four)

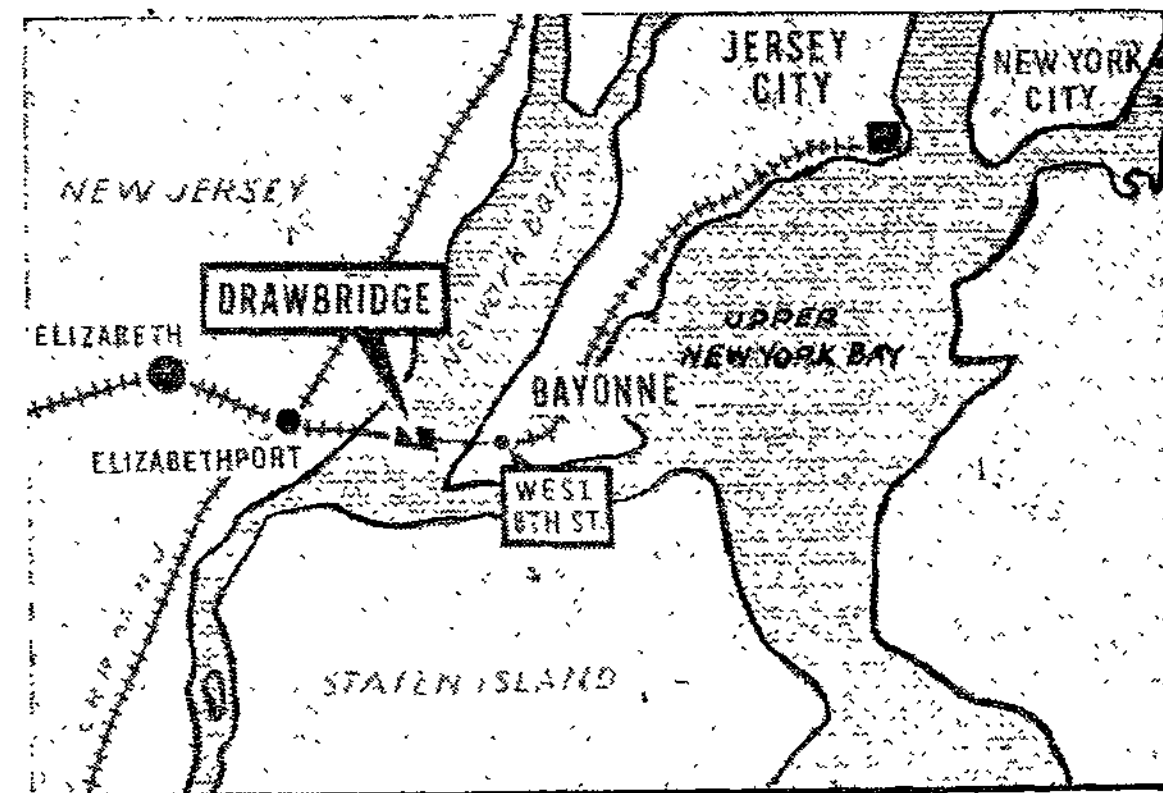

Then there's the question of getting American troops out of Lebanon, where they landed July 15 at the request of President Chamoun, and British troops out of Jordan, where they landed two days later at King Hussein's request.

The world reaction to the entry of American forces in the Middle East was so bad from the beginning that this country has seemed willing to "withdraw if it could be done gracefully."

Gen. Fuad Chehab has since been elected president and will take office Sept. 24. By then or soon after, at Chehab's request, the last of the American troops should have departed.

Not so with the British troops in Jordan, where King Hussein sits on a shaky throne. He's shown no signs of wanting to see his British protectors depart. And it's hard to see what the U.N. can do to nudge them out.

Area Field Representative Attends Red Cross Meeting

James Williams, newly assigned field representative of American Red Cross in this area, was a special guest at the quarterly meeting of Warren County Chapter on Monday afternoon at headquarters in Market street.

With his wife also a guest, Mr. Williams commended the local chapter's various phases of activity and urged that representatives be sent to the conference at Bedford Springs this weekend. All chapters in western Pennsylvania will be participating in the Friday and Saturday sessions, which promise to be very worth while and emphasize the query: "Is the Red Cross suitably serving its community?"

Chairman Robert E. Dunham conducted the meeting, with routine reports by the secretary, Mrs. E. G. Hamilton, and assistant treasurer, Edward Ryberg.

Reporting on the Home Service program, Mrs. Edward Bell showed 163 servicemen and families, veterans and civilians assisted in the past three months, at a total cost of $504.63.

In connection with the Blood Program, a commendatory letter was read from the regional director at Buffalo, acknowledging the fact Warren county was one of three to go over its assigned quota of blood collection in July. It was also reported a number of "live" donors have been sent to Warren General Hospital on emergency summer calls. Next bloodmobile visits will be October 1 to Sylvania; October 8, at Youngsville; November 5, at headquarters.

Mr. Dunham explained a new ruling of the YMCA board in connection with use of its pool for life saving classes and board members authorized memberships in the "Y" to carry on this program. In his report, Paul Steinkamp showed a beginners' swim class at Chapman Dam, first outdoor class in history, with a turnout as high as 97 on one evening and 11 beginner certificates issued.

Reporting for first aid work, it was announced Z. V. Harkle road will be in Warren soon to conduct a class for instructors and as a refresher course.

Gromyko Asks to Have Tests on U.N. Agenda

LONDON (AP)—Moscow radio said today Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko had called for the question of the cessation of nuclear weapon tests to be included on the agenda of the U.N. General Assembly.

The broadcast, quoting a Tass dispatch from New York, said Gromyko made the request in a letter to Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld.

Oddities in the News

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (AP)—John E. Carre, 15, was knocked off his motor scooter by a cannon ball. He was jolted but wasn't seriously hurt. The cannon ball was rolled down a bridge—a few hundred yards from the country's oldest masonry fort — by four youths who fled in an automobile.

DENVER (AP)—Because it was his first day on the job, Ray Curry asked his wife not to telephone the office. She did anyway, to say the house was on fire. It burned to the ground. Curry, 26, his wife and five children spent the night at a neighbor's.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. (AP)—A deputy circuit clerk said a man required to make $40 monthly child support payments submitted $45 for September. The man explained that he had missed the August payment, but that his ex-wife hadn't complained. "Just tell her the extra $5 is a tip for waiting," he said.

Fishing Money From Fountains In Italy Banned

ROME (AP)—Tourists may throw their money away when they toss coins in those fountains. But, says Italy's Supreme Court, it is a crime for anyone to try to fish them out.

An old tradition says a traveler pitching a coin in some of Italy's old fountains will return to the scene someday.

Three years ago police in Genoa caught a man taking coins out of the fountain in Piazza De Ferrari. He was charged with theft.

A Genoa court acquitted him. It ruled that the money had been thrown away and belonged to no one.

Over the weekend Italy's highest tribunal reversed the acquittal. It said money tossed into public fountains belongs to the municipalities concerned.

Air Force Chief Has High Praise For Starfighter

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—The commander of the U. S. Air Force newly arrived F104 Starfighter squadron said today the deadly record-breaking jet "is able to handle anything it is apt to come up against."

Lt. Col. John W. Bennett of Miami, Fla., said they were brought here to assume a role as part of the air defense team.

The 33rd Fighter-Interceptor Squadron, numbering 20 to 25 Starfighters, was flown from the Hamilton Air Force Base in California, aboard C124 double-deck cargo planes.

The F104 holds the world's speed record for operational fighter craft of 1,404 miles an hour and the world altitude record of 91,249 feet. Because of its small wing of seven feet on each side it is often called "the missile with a man in it."

The Starfighter's principal armament, he added, is the Sidewinder missile, a heat-seeking weapon which heads for the tail of a blazing jet.

Death Penalty Is Sought in Beaver Co. Murder Case

BEAVER, Pa. (AP)—The state indicates it will seek the death penalty for a 41-year-old Baden electrician charged with murder in the ambush shooting of two men.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Joseph A. Walke of Beaver County asked prospective jurors whether they had any scruples against capital punishment as trial opened Monday for Arthur G. Schuck.

A jury of 10 men and 2 women was chosen.

Walke indicated the state will attempt to prove that Schuck killed Vincent J. Quigley, 34, and William E. Engel, 44, April 27 in a case of mistaken identity.

Angelina Pugliano, 33, of Fair Oaks, wounded in the shooting, is listed as one of the state's principal witnesses.

The shooting occurred near Quigley's home in Economy Borough. Engel and Miss Pugliano were taking Quigley home after a night out.

20 Bodies

my life . . . I never saw such a mess in my life."

Aboard the train as it rocked onto the 1½-mile trestle, there was little forewarning of disaster.

The trestle approach to the open drawbridge was strung with warning signals. An amber caution signal was a mile from the draw. A quarter of a mile closer to the draw was another. And 500 feet from the draw was a red stop signal.

Railroad officials said all three were working.

Engineer Wilburn's train ignored all three signals, ripped through an automatic derailling device and bumped on for 500 feet over the ties before it plunged off the lip of the 216-foot drawbridge.

Estimates of the train's speed varied. Under normal circumstances, with all signals in its favor, it was limited to 45 m.p.h. A towerman said it hit the draw at about 30 m.p.h. Passengers aboard estimated its speed at up to 60 m.p.h.

Among bodies identified today were those of George (Snuffy) Stirmweiss, 39, former New York Yankee star second baseman; and Howard W. Huntington, 54, a statistician of the New York Times financial news department for 33 years.

Among the missing and presumed dead was Elton Clark, 71, a director of Allied Chemical & Dye Co., one of the nation's biggest corporations.

Stirmweiss, father of six children, lost his life as the result of a split-second stroke of fate—he had swung aboard the train at the last moment just as it was pulling out of Red Bank.

Federal and state agencies immediately launched investigations of the cause of the mysterious tragedy. The Interstate Commerce Commission, the New Jersey Public Utility Commission and the Army Corps of Engineers began probes, and the railroad said it was conducting its own investigation. They all wanted to know if men or machines caused the accident.

Integration

to classrooms. At least 100 idled Little Rock students already have tried to enroll at other schools in the state.

There also is talk in Little Rock of reopening the public schools on a private, segregated basis. The Little Rock school board asked Faubus to advise it how that could be done "with assurance of full accreditation under North Central Assn. standards."

The federal position may be summarized this way:

There is no existing law under which the federal government can force a state to operate a system of public schools. If the entire system is closed down, that's it, and the matter is closed so far as Washington is concerned.

But legal authorities say a constitutional question may be raised in selective school closures designed to avoid obedience of a Supreme Court order. They say that when a state offers given grades of education in one area and withholds them in others, it may be possible to argue successfully in court that children in the latter areas are being denied the equal protection of the laws guaranteed by the 14th Amendment.

Both U.S. and Nationalist planes escorted eight Nationalist cargo planes which parachuted supplies to Little Quemoy, two miles from the main outpost, Sunday. ## Televised Debate

Hazy about details, Scott could not recall the man's first name. After the Pardon Board heard the case, he added, Marcello was given a pardon but was later deported to Italy.

Scott said he sponsored legislation in Congress recently allowing Marcello to return to the United States. Sen. Joseph S. Clark (D-Pa) supported the measure, later signed into law, but the man still has not returned to this country, added Scott. He said Marcello was ill.

"The Marcello family are fine people," he told newsmen. "I strongly resent the governor's smear of an excellent Italian family."

Asked if he received a fee for sponsoring the federal legislation, the Republican Congressman replied, "no."

The Pardon Board issue enveloped the debate that hashed and reshaped issues previously discussed by the two senatorial candidates.

Pope Urges Support of Roman Catholic Schools

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Pius XII has urged fuller support of Roman Catholic schools by public officials.

The Pope spoke Sunday to members of the general assembly of the International Office of Catholic Teaching.

"The Christian school," said the Pope, "justifies its reason for being in the measure in which its teachers, lay and clerical, religious and secular, succeed in forming solid Christians."

"Unfortunately," he added, "despite its evident merits, the Catholic school does not always find among public powers the support that it should by right receive."

Pennsy President Is Speaker at Seminar

(From Page One)

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The president of the Pennsylvania Railroad says United States railroads have suffered a steady erosion of their ability to meet transport needs, particularly in a national emergency.

James M. Symes said Monday the United States is being outdone by Russia in improvement of its railroad system.

Speaking at a seminar at the Transportation Institute of the Transportation Assn. of America, Symes said:

"If we are to face up to military and economic challenges from abroad, we have to have an integrated or coordinated transport system that is efficient, economical and able to face up to any national emergency. It cannot be done without good railroads."

Charlottesville Seeks Reprieve From Order

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Lawyers for the city of Charlottesville go before U.S. Circuit Judge Simon Sobeloff today seeking a reprieve from an integration order that would close two of the city's largest schools.

The conference with Sobeloff in Baltimore appeared to offer the city its last avenue of escape from compliance this month with the order signed last week by U.S. Dist. Judge John Paul.

Should Sobeloff decline to stay the order directing the enrollment of two Negroes in Lane High School and 10 in Venable Elementary School, closure of both schools under Virginia law would be all but assured. The two schools are scheduled to open next Monday.

Appeal to High Court
Withdrawn by Smith

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Aud. Gen. Charles C. Smith has withdrawn an appeal from the Pennsylvania Supreme Court in which he sought dismissal of a libel suit brought against him by Atty. Gen. Thomas D. McBride.

According to counsel, the matter now reverts back to the lower court for trial on the issues of fact in the case.

The action was brought by McBride last December because of remarks by Smith in connection with an alleged under scandal in western Pennsylvania. The attorney general claimed $15,000 in damages, contending Smith, was in effect, accusing him of malfeasance in office.

Soviet Union and U.S. Plan Unusual Exhibits
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union and the United States are going to show each other a sample of their latest wares at big exhibits in New York and Moscow next summer.

The two countries agreed to it Monday under a broad cultural agreement signed last January.

Both nations will display exhibits in science, technology and culture.

The Soviet exhibit is set tentatively to begin in mid-June at the huge New York Coliseum. The U.S. exhibit will open July 1 in Gorki Park in the heart of Moscow.

Physician and Wife Die In Somerset Co. Blaze
SOMERSET, Pa. (AP)—A physician and his wife died early today in a fire which swept their Berlin home following an explosion.

Dr. and Harold G. Haines, both in their 60s, were trapped on the second floor of their two-story double home. Four occupants of the adjoining home were evacuated. Berlin is nine miles west of Somerset.

Berlin Police Chief Earl Schultz said he was sitting in his patrol car opposite the Haines' home when the explosion occurred at 2:30 a.m. Berlin firemen extinguished the blaze in 45 minutes.

North Africans Extend Campaign of Terrorism
MARSEILLE, France (AP) — North Africans carried their campaign of terrorism inside a military camp in Marseille today and blew up a tank. One soldier was killed and six wounded.

Other terrorists set a bomb under a 12-ton fuel storage tank in the city but it was discovered before it went off.

A charge Monday rocked the local government headquarters, wounding four persons.

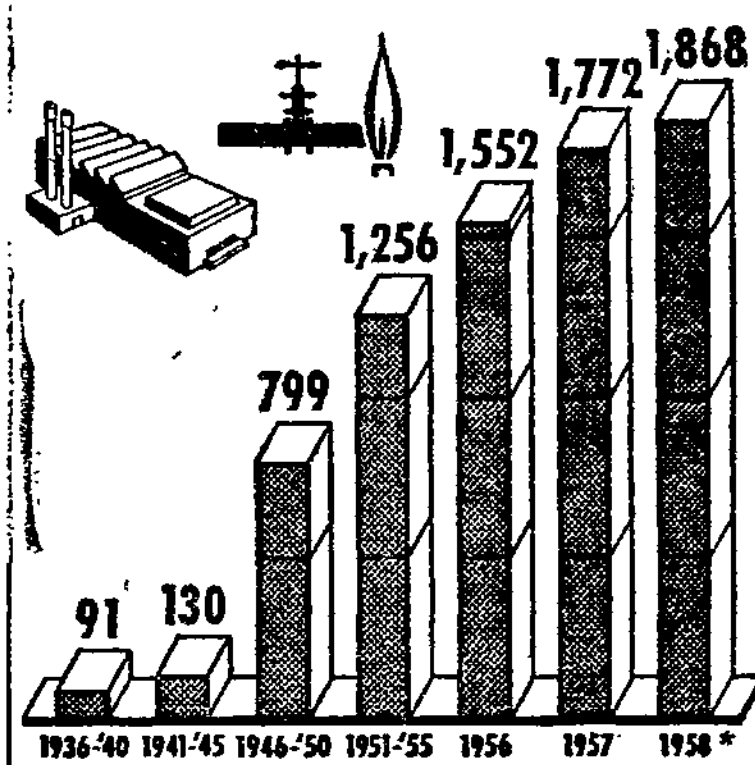

Police in Le Havre reported a bomb exploded Monday night in the port area under a tanker containing sulphuric acid. Nobody was injured and damage was slight.

COASTAL TOWN TAKEN
JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — The army information department said today government forces captured the coastal town of Painan, 32 miles south of the former rebel capital of Padang in Central Sumatra.

GAS INDUSTRY EXPANSION

NEW CONSTRUCTION EXPENDITURES

MILLIONS OF DOLLARS

THE gas utility and pipeline industry is expanding at the fastest pace in its history, with new all-time high construction expenditures of nearly $1.9 billion forecast for 1958. Outlays of nearly $1.4 billion in 1957 topped the previous year's construction expenditures by 14 percent and were almost 20 times greater than the industry's average annual building costs prior to World War II.

Death of Justice of Peace Probed by Jury
WASHINGTON, Pa. (AP)—The death of Justice of the Peace John M. Frazier of nearby Hickory was caused by an unknown person or persons, a Washington County coroner's jury ruled Monday.

Seven witnesses testified at the brief inquest.

The 72-year-old squire was found dead of a heart attack July 2 in his home where he lived alone.

Since his arms and legs were bound and he apparently was robbed the case was listed as a murder. The jury found that death was induced either by fear or exhaustion from Frazier's efforts to free himself.

First Atomic Shot of Fall Series Positoned
ATOMIC TEST SITE, Nev. (AP)—A third postponement has reset the first atomic shot of the fall test series for Friday morning.

The blast originally was scheduled for Monday. The Atomic Energy Commission did not give the reason for the delay.

The first of 10 scheduled tests will be an explosion of a less than 10-kiloton weapon from a balloon at 500 feet elevation. The weapon's power would be less than that of 1,000 tons of TNT.

NEWSPAPER HAS FIRE
SOMERSET, Pa. (AP)—A fire at the Somerset Daily American newspaper plant Monday caused several hundred dollars damage. Custodian Edward Fredline was momentarily trapped fighting the blaze in the basement but was rescued by three fellow workers.

Ronald Harkcom, one of the rescuers, suffered slight burns. Firemen finally quelled the blaze. A newspaper spokesman said the fire started in some rags near a furnace.

TURNPIKE REVENUE

Stengel Has Two Weeks To Rebuild His Pitching Staff

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The pennant at last is in the bag. Mickey Mantle and Bill Skowron are healthy, Gil McDougald's hitting and all Casey Stengel has to worry about is rebuilding his pitching staff again with his American League champion New York Yankees two weeks from the World Series.

His ailing pitchers — Whitey Ford, Don Larsen and Tom Sturdivant — provide part of the answer for the Yankees' slow clinching. But those three join 21-game winner Bob Turley as Stengel's top men for the Series.

"I had to make a new pitching staff in the middle of the season and I did it," said Stengel. "And now I'm going to do it again if these men show me they are capable.

"Larsen will pitch batting practice once more, then start a game next week. Sturdivant insists he's ready and as soon as I can, I'll start him too."

"But I won't decide on which men to make eligible for the Series until the end of the season, and maybe not until I go into that meeting with the commissioner the day before."

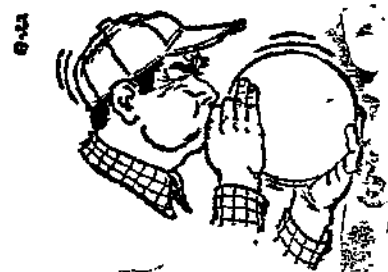

The Yankees forwarded only a 25-man list to Commissioner Ford Friday last week for Series approval. Larsen, Sturdivant and Murry Dickson, a late-season arrival from Kansas City, were missing. Two of the three can be added under the 25-man Series limit.

Ford, who pitched five innings Sunday and felt fine, was on the original list, although the stubby southpaw had been ineffective for a month because of a sore arm. Larsen, the perfect game pitcher of the 1956 Series, also has had arm trouble. The big right-hander hasn't gone nine innings since July 18, has won but once since July 1.

Sturdivant, who spiked himself while shagging flies a month ago, also is a right-hander. He hasn't worked since Aug. 12.

Other pitchers eligible for the Series are Art Ditmar, rookie Zack Monroe, Duke Maas, Virgil Trucks—who formed the "rebuild" staff over the last part of the season—relief ace Ryne Duren, Bobby Shantz and Johnny Kucks.

No Grudge Angle in Eagles-49ers Clash

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Buck Shaw, fired as coach of the San Francisco 49ers in 1954, scoffs at any hint his Philadelphia Eagles' exhibition game here Sunday will be a grudge match.

"This game is more important than any other to us," the Eagle's coach declared. "And it's between the Eagles and the 49ers, not the coaches. As for the grudge angle, nothing to it. Life's too short."

The clash Sunday will be the last National Football League exhibition for both teams.

Kinzua Course Is Planning Cancer Benefit Sept. 28

ACCELERATED COURSE—Lester "Les" Sheldon, owner and operator of Kinzua Valley Golf Course, is shown at the Pro Shop after his announcement that the Kinzua greens will be made available for first annual Babe Didrikson Zaharias "Beat the Pro" tournament, sponsored by Warren County Unit of American Cancer Society in the fight against the dreaded disease. Tournament date has been set for September 28. — Times-photo by McGarry Photo Center.

In honor and memory of one of the best-known and best-loved woman sports figures in United States, Mrs. George (Mildred) Didrikson Zaharias, better known among her hosts of friends and to the thousands of golf enthusiasts as "Babe", Warren County unit of American Cancer Society will sponsor Warren County Open golf tournament, Babe Didrikson Zaharias "Beat the Pro" tournament, on Kinzua Valley Course Sunday, September 28 at 12 noon. County golfers are urged to set their sights on the date.

The project is being staged as a benefit in the drive upon cancer in memory of Babe, who lost her life in a fight against the disease September 27, 1956.

During the last months when Mrs. Zaharias was waging her own personal fight against her foe, she was determined to help others win the battle against America's second highest killing disease. Babe set up the Babe Didrikson Zaharias Cancer Fund, which, a year later, became her memorial. In May of this year, the fund became a memorial project of ACS, when Babe's widow, George, consented to a transfer of the fund.

Tournament committee explains that it is the "concern of everyone of us to help the Babe live on... to take up the torch and join forces in this coming sports event, when all proceeds will be earmarked for the Memorial fund."

Les Sheldon, owner of Kinzua course, has made available his greens for the affair. "Enlistment of sports world in this fight against cancer is catching on... has become national... and many such tournaments are being staged throughout United States, in the name of the all-time great Babe Didrikson Zaharias."

Local tourney is open for both men and women. Conewango Valley Country Club pro, Fred Lindstrom, will headline competition. Golfers will have an opportunity to match his score, with his handicap included, against the pros. Winner of the tournament will win an eye-catching Sward Trophy.

Registration prior to the event can be made at CVCC, Kinzua course, or B. & B. Smoke Shop.

Two county teams played rubber games of playoff series Sunday in their respective baseball leagues, Ludlow Wildcats taking Intercity honors, while Kinzua mowed to Busti in Chautauqua County Association play.

Ludlow subdued Jamestown's Marlin-Rockwell Rollers 3-2 behind the pitching of Larry Wilson, who blanked Jamestown two weeks ago. Ludlow came from behind in the sixth to win. Jamestown, however, took advantage of Wilson in first three innings, clipping him for seven hits and a 2-0 lead. Settling down, Wilson scattered three hits remainder of the game.

Playing home, Ludlow picked up its first run off Bullock in the fourth when Tom Thompson drew a walk to lead off. Jim Smart followed with a single, Doug Caldwell popped to second. Smart was retired at second on Jim Thompson's grounder, but Tom Thompson streaked home on a passed ball.

Win came in sixth inning when Caldwell singled with two away. Stealing second, he scored on J. Thompson's triple to left center. Bucky Parisi drove Thompson home with the winning run.

Busti, playing at Kinzua, belted six extra-base blows as Curt Spontaneo scattered nine bingles backed by a 12-hit assault to take Kinzua over the coals with a 13-3 raking.

Kinzua won initial contest 14-5, Busti captured second one ten days ago with another high-scoring fray, 11-9.

BASEBALL

Jayvees Beat Corry Junior Beavers by Score of 13-7

After receiving a bitter 54-0 verdict at Sheffield Saturday from the varsity Wolverines, Warren Jayvees, a determined and promising grid squad, leaped forward at a strong Corry eleven on Memorial Field Monday afternoon, whipping the Junior Beavers 12-7. Playing in a blazing hot sun and July-like temperatures, one Warren player fell victim to the heat.

Although the Beavers' line held a powerful wall, Pat Hartnett powerhoused the pigskin over Corry's goal line twice for both TDs. Two other successful trips across the line were valid, once out of bounds and once termed "foul". Backing right half Hartnett in his attacking drive was fullback Ronnie Hultman. Defensively, the backs were sparked by left guard Jim Kervin and Dick Occuzzo, line backer.

Not giving the Beavers time to plant their feet on Warren soil, Hartnett ushered the ball, return of a punt, over the line, first scampering 45 yards, shaking off closing Beavers. Thally was scored early in the first quarter. Lord passed to Hartnett for extra point.

A few downs later, Hartnett kicked off on Warren's 40. Roden taking it on Corry's 30 and moved it ahead 5 yards. Two plays and 60 yards further, Roden gave Corry their only TD on an end run. Extra point was scored by Lord, deadlocking the score at 7-7.

Second quarter was a see-saw affair. Hartnett scored once again, but was out of bounds. In the third quarter, Hultman spurred the attack as he scooted over the goal line, officials yelling "foul". This was a 50-yard gallop. Returning to Warren's 45, Ronnie collapsed from the heat, removing him from the contest up to the last few seconds. He was treated on field by an attending physician.

Spunky Dragons secured the winning touchdown as Hartnett scored, after accepting a pass from Rodney Betts, running 10 yards. Extra point attempt was in vain. Six seconds remained in the game.

One Corry runner, "No. 59," was a tough man to bring down, constantly twisting and turning out of his foe's reach. Brothers Wally and Jim Jewell coach the local gridgers. Warren will be at home for their next contest, one week from today on Memorial against Bradford Owls.

Kinzua Bows to Busti in County League Contest

Ludlow subdued Jamestown's Marlin-Rockwell Rollers 3-2 behind the pitching of Larry Wilson, who blanked Jamestown two weeks ago. Ludlow came from behind in the sixth to win. Jamestown, however, took advantage of Wilson in first three innings, clipping him for seven hits and a 2-0 lead. Settling down, Wilson scattered three hits remainder of the game.

Playing home, Ludlow picked up its first run off Bullock in the fourth when Tom Thompson drew a walk to lead off. Jim Smart followed with a single, Doug Caldwell popped to second. Smart was retired at second on Jim Thompson's grounder, but Tom Thompson streaked home on a passed ball.

Win came in sixth inning when Caldwell singled with two away. Stealing second, he scored on J. Thompson's triple to left center. Bucky Parisi drove Thompson home with the winning run.

Busti, playing at Kinzua, belted six extra-base blows as Curt Spontaneo scattered nine bingles backed by a 12-hit assault to take Kinzua over the coals with a 13-3 raking.

Kinzua won initial contest 14-5, Busti captured second one ten days ago with another high-scoring fray, 11-9.

Several teams began, their league competition early last week and others start this week.

Ohio State Listed First on Top Ten Football Elevens

NEW YORK (AP)—The sports writers and sportscasters participating in the Associated Press preseason football poll indicated today their judgment isn't to be influenced by past performance.

They can see the defending national champion Auburn team no better than fifth among the top 10. They handed the top spot to Ohio State, runner-up in 1957. Ohio State received 46 first-place votes, twice as many as Oklahoma, second in the balloting. Ohio State had a total of 839 points to 738 for the Sooners.

Notre Dame was third, indicating the prestige of the Irish is undimmed despite their 7-3 record and 10th-place finish last year. Michigan State was fourth. Most of the first-place votes were cornered by four teams, but no less than 42 teams received votes for the top 10.

Behind Auburn in the first 10 are Mississippi, Navy, Texas Christian, Army and North Carolina. Texas Christian, Army and North Carolina and newcomers to the group, based on last year's final standings.

Here is the way they finished in the final 1957 poll.
Auburn, Ohio State, Michigan State, Oklahoma, Navy, Iowa, Mississippi, Rice, Texas Aggies, Notre Dame.

Pirate Twirler Is Nominated as Rookie of Year

By JOE BRADIS
PITTSBURGH (DP) — Don't overlook young George (Red) Witt in the balloting for Rookie of the Year honors. The 25-year-old Pittsburgh Pirate right-hander stands a good chance.

Since his recall from Columbus in June, the lanky Californian has pitched three shutouts and compiled an 8.2 record with a 1.59 earned run average, best in the National League.

Witt can pick up his seventh straight triumph against the St. Louis Cardinals tonight in the completion of a suspended game of Aug. 3. He leads 2-0 with the Pirates at bat in the fifth.

His recall by the Pirates in June was on his terms. He returned only with the assurance he could be a starter. "I didn't want to sit on the bench," he said. "That way I wouldn't help the club or myself."

Witt had an outstanding record with Hollywood in the Pacific Coast League last year where he won 28 and lost only 7. He led the league in shutouts with six, pitched one no-hit game, four three-inning and two four-inning games without allowing an earned run and won nine straight, the longest winning streak for a PCL hurler last year.

In 18 games and 102 innings so far this season, the 6-3, 200-pounder has allowed 73 hits, walked 58, and struck out 81. He's pitched 4 complete games.

Fastest Miler in History Expected To Become a Pro

By ED CORRIGAN
NEW YORK (AP) — Herb Elliott's decision of whether to turn professional footrace—something as rare as a three-legged horse—could have worldwide repercussions.

The fastest miler in history (3:54.5) is mulling over a $250,000 offer by American promoter Leo Leavitt in his home in far-off Australia.

When Leavitt first attracted attention by making his offer to Elliott, the obvious question was: Who is he going to race?

That was settled today. Wee Santee, barred by the Amateur Athletic Union for accepting excessive expense money, is ready and willing to meet him. Santee said at his Lawrence, Kan., home that he has been working out with just such an idea in mind.

Can Leavitt make good his offer to Elliott? A quarter of a million dollars is a lot of money. Leavitt says he thinks he could pack stadiums on the West Coast and realize a healthy return for himself.

Ashburn Pushes Average to .343 in Race for New Title

By ED WILES
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Milwaukee Braves' magic number is going down, and Richie Ashburn is in the lead.

The Braves, closing in on a repeat National League pennant, reduced the clinching combination to four by whipping Los Angeles 8-3.

Ashburn, riding a hot streak in a bid for his second batting title, pushed his average to .343 as Philadelphia rapped St. Louis 6-2 Monday night.

Those were the only games scheduled in the NL. None were played in the American League.

Any combination of four Milwaukee victories and/or defeats by the second-place Pittsburgh Pirates will make the Braves the only club other than the Dodgers to pin pennants back to back in the NL since 1944.

The Braves had to rally in their final game of the season series with Los Angeles, won by the Dodgers 14-8. A five-run seventh inning, with two runs unearned, did the job. Joe Adcock batted in three runs for the champs, hitting his 19th home run in the fourth inning to cut the Dodger lead to 3-1, and then adding a two-run single in the seventh.

Speaking of Sports

Says Dick Stone in "All Sorts of Sports": "We haven't seen Don Elbaum the past couple of days. He must have left the country after predicting that Art Aragon was going to upset Carmen Basilio. Aragon had about as much luck against Basilio as Don did against Willie Pep when he boxed off exhibition with the former feather king recently."

William Simmons of Baltimore caught the most valuable fish in the world. The angler's qualifications are probably as amazing as the striped bass which had a gold tag through its jaw—worth $25,000. Simmons was not only out of a job, but his wife was expecting a baby. While contemplating his future, Simmons dangled a now historic bait from the four-mile long Chesapeake Bay Bridge that connects Maryland's east and west shore. The striped bass, or rockfish as they call them in these waters, was Diamond Jim III, the third in a series of strippers launched by a brewery. The idea is to promote Chesapeake tourist attraction, and presumably that malt product dear to the palate. Tagging doesn't hurt fish, and there's no reason to believe that the first two Diamond Jim strippers are not still on the loose. In addition to the DJ's, the brewery released bass at Easton, Crisfield, Pooie Point, Harve de Grace and St. Marys County—all in the Maryland waters of Chesapeake. In each location, one bass worth $1,000, two worth $500 and two worth $250 were sent on their unpredictable way. A New York daily newspaper released tagged trout in the Bronx River 25 years ago. Tags were valued at $5. Announcement jammed the subways. Poor fish didn't have a chance of survival in the highly polluted waters of 241st Street, but a big time was had. Most tags were recovered and many a city had had its first taste of angling.

Mal Anderson and Ashlie Cooper, Australians who took complete command of United States singles championships past two years, are expected to turn professional after the Davis Cup Challenge Round in Brisbane December 29-31. It becomes increasingly evident that the only way U. S. will ever regain the Davis Cup is by kidnapping a couple of young Aussies and schooling them as they do Down Under. Indeed, U. S. is establishing a precedent in abducting 22-year-old Alejandro Omedo of Peru for this year's team. A vastly more satisfactory way for this country to regain its lost tennis prestige would be to inaugurate a National Open Championship, which everybody but the stuffy U.S.L.T.A. brass wants. Officials of the U. S. Golf Association long have pointed out that the tennis people are extremely foolish in not conducting an Open. As a matter of fact, the USGA lives off its Open. And as Billy Talbert, non-playing captain of our Davis Cup team the past five years, stresses, an Open would make the Amateur a healthier and cleaner game.

County Hot Stove League Meeting Thursday Night

First organizational meeting of a proposed Warren County Hot Stove League, a derivation of the present Hot Stove Baseball League, is slated at the American Legion Home in Youngsville Thursday evening at 7:30. Communities expected to be represented are Clarendon, Youngsville, Russell, Sheffield and Sugar Grove.

Reason for the "secession" was, according to reports, 1. Present Hot Stove League is too big to accommodate new areas wishing to play; 2. To split the present League in two divisions, mainly a Warren Borough group and the County squads, allowing the admission of Sugar Grove and their 200 players.

Warren County League will have its own officers and will run separately from present governing body of HSL. North Warren, and Starbrick units will not be included in the new divisions as they wish to stay with the borough.

Both clubs will work in conjunction with each other, but not as one.

Area Boy Winner Of Award From Game Commission

According to word from the Agricultural Extension Office, John Carmody, Jr., above Clarendon, RD, was one of twelve 4-H members in the State to receive a conservation award from the Pennsylvania State Game Commission for outstanding achievement in wildlife club work for 1957.

Carmody's award resulted from an outstanding gun safety demonstration which he presented at 4-H Club Week last year, says Bernard Wingert, Associate County Agent.

The special shoulder patch and citation was presented to Carmody Saturday evening at the International Foreign Youth Exchange meeting held in the Community building at Cherry Grove.

Young Carmody is one of the youths enrolled in the 4-H Wildlife Club which has discussions and meetings on wildlife topics. Some members set up wildlife feeders, others engage in bird study projects where they learn identification, build bird houses, and set up songbird feeders. Hunter safety and gun handling is a popular fall activity.

Shakeup of Cards All Way Down Is Believed Coming

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A shakeup of the St. Louis Cardinals all the way from dugout to front office is all but an accomplished fact. The Associated Press has learned.

The key figures in the sweeping changes that seem inevitable—Birdie Tebbetts and Solly Hemus—spoke guardedly of their future. But some confirmation of what seems to be in the wind came today from the Philadelphia Phillies headquarters.

Hemus, the reports have it, will replace Fred Hutchinson as the Redbirds' field manager. Hemus, 34, a former Cardinal, is the veteran infielder who has been as dynamic as any man on the last-place Phillies squad this season. Obviously smarting over the club's poor showing this season, Cardinals President August Busch is represented as convinced at last that seasoned baseball men are better able to improve the fortunes of ball clubs than is a hierarchy of yelps at the brewery.

Busch, by report, has himself approached Hemus, Tebbetts and the third man, whose name is withheld.

Republicans Maintain Two To One Majority

Republican party rolls in Warren County maintained a comfortable 2 to 1 margin over Democrats last night as the special pre-fall election registration campaign concluded.

Last minute registration of 65 Republicans, 42 Democrats, 1 non partisan and 2 Prohibitionists brought these totals: 12,437 Republicans; 6,078 Democrats; 311 non partisans; 122 Prohibitionists.

The registration office noted that these figures might change slightly as duplicates are processed.

In the special late summer registration campaign just concluded, Republicans enlisted 201, Democrats 186.

From now until election day, Nov. 4, both county political organizations are expected to wage intensive campaigns with statewide candidates making appearances.

Sheriff's Department Seeking Lost Girls

Warren County Sheriff's Department continued its search today for two young girls who disappeared Friday from the Ruth M. Smith children's home in Sheffield.

Shirley Dexter, aged 17, and her 14-year-old sister, Carol, were believed observed Saturday morning dressed in blue jeans and attempting to secure a ride above Warren.

Dressed in school clothes as they started for school when last seen in Sheffield, the girls apparently had planned the trip and had other clothes outside the home.

Law officers discount the possibility of foul play.

Route 62 By-Pass of Russell Coming Soon

An early October starting date is contemplated by the highway department for the $900,000 by-pass of Russell on Route 62 above North Warren.

Howard Jones, construction engineer in the Franklin district highway office, said this morning that an unofficial bid of approximately $900,000 had been submitted by Thomas McKis company of RD 2, Valencia, Pa.

The new stretch of highway would start just above where the three-lane ends at Lover's Lane Road. It will cut straight to Akeley intersection of Kiantone Road, by-passing Russell to the west near Pine Grove Cemetery and eliminating at least five dangerous curves and dips.

Engineer Jones said the work could begin in about three weeks when final bid award is made. The stretch would be a two-lane concrete roadway approximately four miles in length.

Far East Crisis As Reviewed by AP Correspondent

EDITOR'S NOTE—This analysis is by a former China correspondent who has followed closely the revolutions in that country.

By JAMES D. WHITE

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — "Mr. Chou En-Lai, the premier of the Peoples Republic of China... Mr. Mao Tse-Tung, the chairman of the Peoples Republic of China..."

These courteous phrases from President Eisenhower's address Thursday suggest an official willingness in Washington to deal with the reality of Red China and her top leaders.

The President drew a firm line against Red aggression in the Formosa area, but was he hinting, at the same time, of the beginning of the end of American nonrecognition of Red China and of the American policy of opposing Red Chinese membership in the United Nations?

If so, neither step would seem to be just around the corner. The President made it clear that American commitments to the Nationalist Chinese government on Formosa are going to be lived up to. Much domestic opposition remains in America to recognizing Red China or admitting her to the United Nations.

But these do not touch on the big reason why Red China probably will not be recognized or admitted to the United Nations very soon. The big reason is that China's situation has changed in eight years.

When the Peiping government was young and insecure it actively sought U.N. membership and probably would have been glad—secretly, anyway—of American recognition. It would have paid a price for the former, if not for the latter.

It is now an experienced government with firm control over its 600 million people. It even holds a certain veto power over Soviet Russia because of the dogmatic nature of Communist politics.

Since the Reds have reached this stage outside the United Nations and without American recognition, it may be a fallacy to assume they still want U.N. membership and American recognition except on their own terms.

There is little in the recent actions of Red Chinese leaders to suggest they are interested in reducing their own bargain power by taking on formal responsibility

Exchange Students in Cherry Grove

for world peace—except at their own price for doing so.

They know their support is indispensable to Russia as long as East-West relations are tense. They know no nuclear disarmament plan based on international inspection can function without them, which of course means full status for them within the United Nations.

This knowledge implies tremendous bargaining power in Peiping's position.

The concept of a powerful China is elusive to some Westerners, who have dealt with a weak China for 150 years.

Those days are over.

RUSSELL

RUSSELL — Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Zimmerman, Toledo, O., have been recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Mattison and Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Lindell. On Friday evening, a picnic supper was held at the Lindell home, other guests being Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Pickard, Falconer; Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Springer and Mrs. Phoebe Tyler, Frewsburg; Mr. and Mrs. Victor Lundmark, Mrs. Hazel Hale, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Haller, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Arthur, Akeley; Mr. and Mrs. Victor Lofgren, Grand Valley; Mr. and Mrs. William St. Clair, Chautauque; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Ramsdell, Jay and Mildred Wilkie, Mrs. Hazel Thompson.

Mrs. Richard Enos entertained Friendship Club Friday, with nine members present. Mrs. Paul Lindell will be hostess for the next meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Van Orman accompanied their daughter, Janet, to Edinboro Saturday to take up her freshman studies.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Swanson and son, Charles, accompanied their daughter and sister, Nancy, to the same school. Others enrolled there from Russell are Carol Bailey and Imogene Harmon.

WBA members held their regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Glen Martin and Mrs. Estella Briggs at Stow, with 14 present. A pleasant afternoon followed a noon meal and dinner. Next meeting of the group will be held with Mrs. Thurston at Stillwater.

Over eighty persons from Cherry Grove and nearby communities participated in an informal meeting with five (IFYE's) International Foreign Youth Exchange Students in the Community building Saturday evening, according to Bernard Wingert, Associate County Agent.

The Exchange Students from England, Netherlands, Sweden and Burma were accompanied by Glenn Harr, assistant state 4-H Club leader from the Pennsylvania State University. Mr. Harr led a panel discussion and a lively question and answer session brought out many different phases of life in the other countries from farm machinery to sack dresses. The students told of their countries native dress, types of farming operations, etc., and asked a number of questions concerning our own ideals and way of life in this country. Many of the persons in attendance had the opportunity to talk with the IFYE's informally at the luncheon which followed the meeting.

The group stayed in Cherry Grove Saturday and Sunday nights and visited Niagara Falls on Sunday. Serving as hosts for the youths during their stay in the county were: Mr. and Mrs. Howard Christensen, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Larson and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Johnson.

IFYE is a Youth Exchange Program for better world understanding. It is managed by the National 4-H Club Foundation at the national level in close cooperation with the Federal Extension Service, and the Extension Service in the participating states, says Wingert. Pennsylvania has participated in the IFYE program since it started. The program offers a real opportunity for mature young persons, with a farm background and experience in rural youth work to contribute to world understanding and goodwill.

TODAY is pay day for all who have classified ads.
